Ekatturer Chithi to be telecast today on Channel i

"Ekatturer Chithi," published by Prothoma Publication, in association with Prothom Alo and Grameenphone Ltd, was unveiled on March 27.

CULTURAL CORRESPONDENT

A documentary on the unveiling of "Ekatturer Chithi" -- a collection of letters written by freedom fighters during the Liberation War -- will be aired today at 11:25 am on Channel i.

The book, published by Prothoma Publication, in association with the Bangla daily Prothom Alo and Grameenphone Ltd., was unveiled at a special programme on March 27. The initiative commemorates the sacrifices made by the freedom fighters to secure our independence, and aims to be a source of inspiration for the post-war generations of the country.

The 30-minute documentary follows the letter collection campaign that started with an announcement on December 16 last year and concluded with the unveiling of the book recently. Noted actors Bipasha Hayat and Raisul Islam Asad read out two letters from the book at the book launch.

Aminul Akram provided the original concept for the book, while historian Salahuddin Ahmed was the chairperson of the letter selection committee. Other members of the selection committee were Major General Amin Ahmed Chowdhury; writers Rashid Hayder and Selina Hossain and freedom fighter-theatre personality Nasiruddin Yousuff.

Eighty letters selected for publication went through proper authentication. Each letter bears a vivid glimpse of the war and heightened emotions of the freedom fighters and their family members.

Honorary doctorate for A.R. Rahman soon

After the double Oscar win, an honorary doctorate awaits the music wizard AR Rahman.

Middlesex University, London has decided to bestow the honour upon the composer. Joe Victor, Regional Director of Middlesex University, met Rahman who is the Founder Principal KM Music Conservatory in Chennai to let him know of the University's desire to award an honorary doctorate to him at a graduation ceremony to be held at Middlesex University, London in July.

However, Rahman's association with the Middlesex University will not end there.

When Rahman started KM Music Conservatory began in July 2008 in association with Audio Media Education, it was meant to be the first music conservatory in India to specialise in both Western and Indian music as well as Music Technology.

The school plans to train Indian students in western music, performance, composition and technology at an internationally competitive level.

Now, the conservatory has initiated a dialogue with the Regional Director South Asia of Middlesex University, London to explore the possibility of developing an Academic Articulation for the Bachelor of Arts Honours Programme for Music Composition and Music Performance.

The degree from Middlesex University is of three years duration. The aim of KMC will be to explore the possibility of offering the first two years of the Middlesex Programme at the KM Music Conservatory in Chennai while the final year will take place at the Middlesex University in London.
