The Search for Alternatives

Just seven years ago American oil company Unocal was so pessimistic about Bangladesh's gas market that it went to great lengths to lobby for gas export from its Bibiyana gas field to India. Unocal and other oil companies claimed that Bangladesh was practically "floating on gas". This campaign gained further credibility when local "experts", including some Buet professors, actively participated in it.

SHARIER KHAN