

GRABBING A RIVER THAT EASY...

ONCE Turag river was a lifeline to the southern fringe of the Dhaka city. The tranquil life on the river mesmerised all. But greed took over sane thinking and river grabbers found it an easy way to expand their wealth by filling up Turag. The river is in a death throes today. These pictures taken over the past week show how mindlessly the encroachers take over the river, fill it up and build structures. There is no authority to check this and no effort to free the grabbed river.

Photo: SYED ZAKIR HOSSAIN

