Aila-hit farmers set to miss Aman season

Lands still waterlogged as repair of all damaged embankments will take time

PORIMOL PALMA

Cyclone Aila-hit farmers after suffering huge loss in AUS production may miss the Aman season because of saline waterlogging in large coastal areas as the damaged embankments are yet to be repaired.

Officials and experts fear the Water Development Board (WDB) would not be able to fully repair the embankments before the rainy season as it is difficult to collect necessary soil to repair huge breaches.

Agriculturalists say marginal farmers would become very vulnerable if they miss the coast's main crop Aman after the Aila. They suggest that the government take very special and immediate care to ensure these farmers' livelihood and rehabilitation.

According to official figures, the cyclone on May 25 damaged 1,742.53 kilometres embankments, crops on about 3.23 lakh acres of land, 157 bridges and culverts and about 1.5 lakh livestock.

Vegetables, oil seeds and moogdal were also damaged in the most affected Sathkhira, Khulna, Bagerhat, Barguna, Pirojpur, Patuakhali, Bhola, Barisal, Noakhali, Laxmipur and Chittagong districts.

The government immediately released Tk 41 crore and 25,000 tonnes goods for WDB to repair the embankments before the rainy season. The army also joined the task in Sathkhira.

"We have completed around 30-40 percent of repairing work and hope to do the rest by July 15 if there is no strong tidal surge," WDB Director General Azad Abul Kalam told The Daily Star.

However, it became very difficult in some areas to find necessary soil. As a result,

Chinese firms dominate bidding for Khulna plant

Seven companies bid for 150MW power project

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Only seven power companies have dropped their technical and financial bids in the tender for a dual fuel 150 megawatt (MW) power project in Khulna under the newly formed North-West Power Generation Company Ltd (NWPGL).

Five of these seven bidders are Chinese companies. The bidders include China National Electric Equipment (CNEEC), Shanghai Machinery Ltd, Shandong Electric, Sinohydro Corp and CMC of China, Isolux of Spain and Cobra of Singapore.

The NWPGL will take six weeks to scrutinise technical qualification of the bidders and then open the financial offers, which are supposed to remain sealed till then.

While all the bidders dropped financial bids sealed in envelopes, CMC dropped its one without any. Sources said an NWPGL official later put the offer in an envelope amid protest from other bidders who pointed out that this was a violation of tender rules.

This project along with another 150MW power project in Sirajganj will be financed under loan from the Asian Development Bank (ADB).

This power project was designed with an output range of 150MW capacity back in 2006. Such generators are manufactured mainly with Siemens gas turbines of Germany. As a result, popular 100MW generator manufacturers like

Parking on streets, not on multi-storey facility

DCC itself encouraging the practice by collecting parking toll from streets

HELEMUL ALAM

Dhaka City Corporation (DCC) assigned a firm to collect toll from parking vehicles in Motijheel and Dilkusha area despite an existing multi-storey parking facility at Sadharan Bima Corporation constructed in 2006 to ease traffic congestion.

The parking facility at Sadharan Bima Corporation at Dilkusha has a capacity of accommodating 575 vehicles but around 185 vehicles are parked there on an average every day as the charge is more than parking on the road.

The DCC on June 15 issued the work order to Nawal Construction to maintain the parking in Motijheel and Dilkusha area. Nawal will pay Tk 18 lakh to DCC for one year.

Interestingly, the firm is also collecting tolls from vehicles parked in front of Sadharan Bima, said locals.

According to the work order Nawal will collect Tk 10 from a private car and Tk 8 from a CNG-run three wheeler and motorcycle for the first two hours, said an official of DCC.

The firm, however, is taking Tk 10 from a private car for the first two hours and Tk 20 for the whole day.

A top official of DMP said around five months back at a meeting with DCC they suggested taking three times higher toll from street parking than that of the parking space to encourage people to park

Taliban scrap peace deal in tribal zone

Bomb kills four in Pakistan

AP, AFP, Mir Ali/ Quetta

Taliban militants in a tribal region bordering Afghanistan say they have pulled out of a peace deal with the government, raising the prospect of wider unrest as the Pakistani army extends its efforts to eliminate insurgents.

The militants in North Waziristan blamed continuing US missile strikes and army offensives against the Taliban for their decision, which was announced in the wake of a Taliban ambush that killed 16 soldiers.

Government leaders and Taliban representatives reached the deal in February 2008, but few details have been released about it.

US officials have criticised peace deals with militants or tribes representing them in the border region, saying they allow the insurgents to gain strength. The agreement in North Waziristan had appeared to keep things relatively peaceful there calmer than in neighbouring South Waziristan, where the army is preparing for a major offensive aimed at Pakistani Taliban chief Baitullah Mehsud.

The deal was struck with a Taliban faction led by Hafiz Gul Bahadur.

Shajahan Siraj surrenders, lands in jail

The lawyers submitted three petitions—one for surrender to send him jail, another for giving Siraj with first class division while yet another for providing him proper treatment in jail.

On August 30 of 2007, the same court sentenced Siraj to eight years' imprisonment and fined Tk 2 lakh, in default, to suffer one year more imprisonment.
