The charity organisation brought underprivileged children to Jackson's ranch, to go on theme park rides that Jackson had built on the property after he purchased it.

In May of 1994, Jackson married singer-songwriter Lisa Marie Presley, the daughter of Elvis Presley, but divorced less than two years later, remaining friendly. During the Australian leg of the History World Tour, Jackson married dermatologist nurse Deborah Jeanne Rowe, with whom he fathered a son, Michael Joseph Jackson Jr. and a daughter, Paris Michael Katherine Jackson. After the couple divorced in 1999, with Rowe giving full custody rights of the children to Jackson, they remained friends. Jackson's third child, Prince Michael Jackson II was born in 2002.

Throughout June 1999, Jackson was involved in a number of charitable events. He joined Luciano Pavarotti for a benefit concert in Modena, Italy. The show was in support of the non-profit organization

Warchild Later that month, Jackson organized a set of "Michael Jackson & Friends" benefit concerts in Germany and Korea. Other artists involved included artistes like Slash, The Scorpions, Mariah Carey, A. R. Rahman, Prabhu Deva Sundaram, and Luciano Pavarotti. The proceeds went to the "Nelson Mandela Children's Fund", the Red Cross and UNESCO. In 2000, Jackson was listed in the book of Guinness World Records for his support of 39 charities, more than any other entertainer or personality.

Even though Michael was accused of various inappropriate behaviours, all those were eventually proved wrong. To this day, Michael is remembered for his great works and versatility. He was a singer, songwriter, record producer, arranger, dancer, choreographer, actor, author, businessman, financier, and philanthropist all together. The English music today owes a lot to Jackson. He was an iconic figure and a versatile genius. It's like death of music, with the death of Jackson.
