spill-over benefits from associated infrastructure investments and ensure their sustainability. This will be achieved through the following tasks:

- (a) Gap analysis of overall water resources sector framework (including analysis of political and institutional drivers shaping the sector and outlining of process for government to build a coherent business plan for sector prioritization and financing).

(including incentives linked to staffing, compensation, enhanced institutional performance and reduced risk of resource mismanagement).
- (c) Analysis of business model of successful parastatals (including IWM and CEGIS) and recommendations regarding potential replication in sector.
- (d) Assessment of options to decentralize and strengthen BWDB hydrological zones on a pilot basis and enhance social accountability mechanisms.
- (e) Extensive consultations with GOB and key development partners to help develop an open platform for dialogue on sector coordination and harmonization.

The analysis will need to draw on international best practice, but should be fully adapted to the local context.

The World Bank Office Dhaka now invites eligible consulting firms to submit their invited to provide information indicating that they are qualified to perform the services
