An actress with panache

In conversation with Farah Ruma

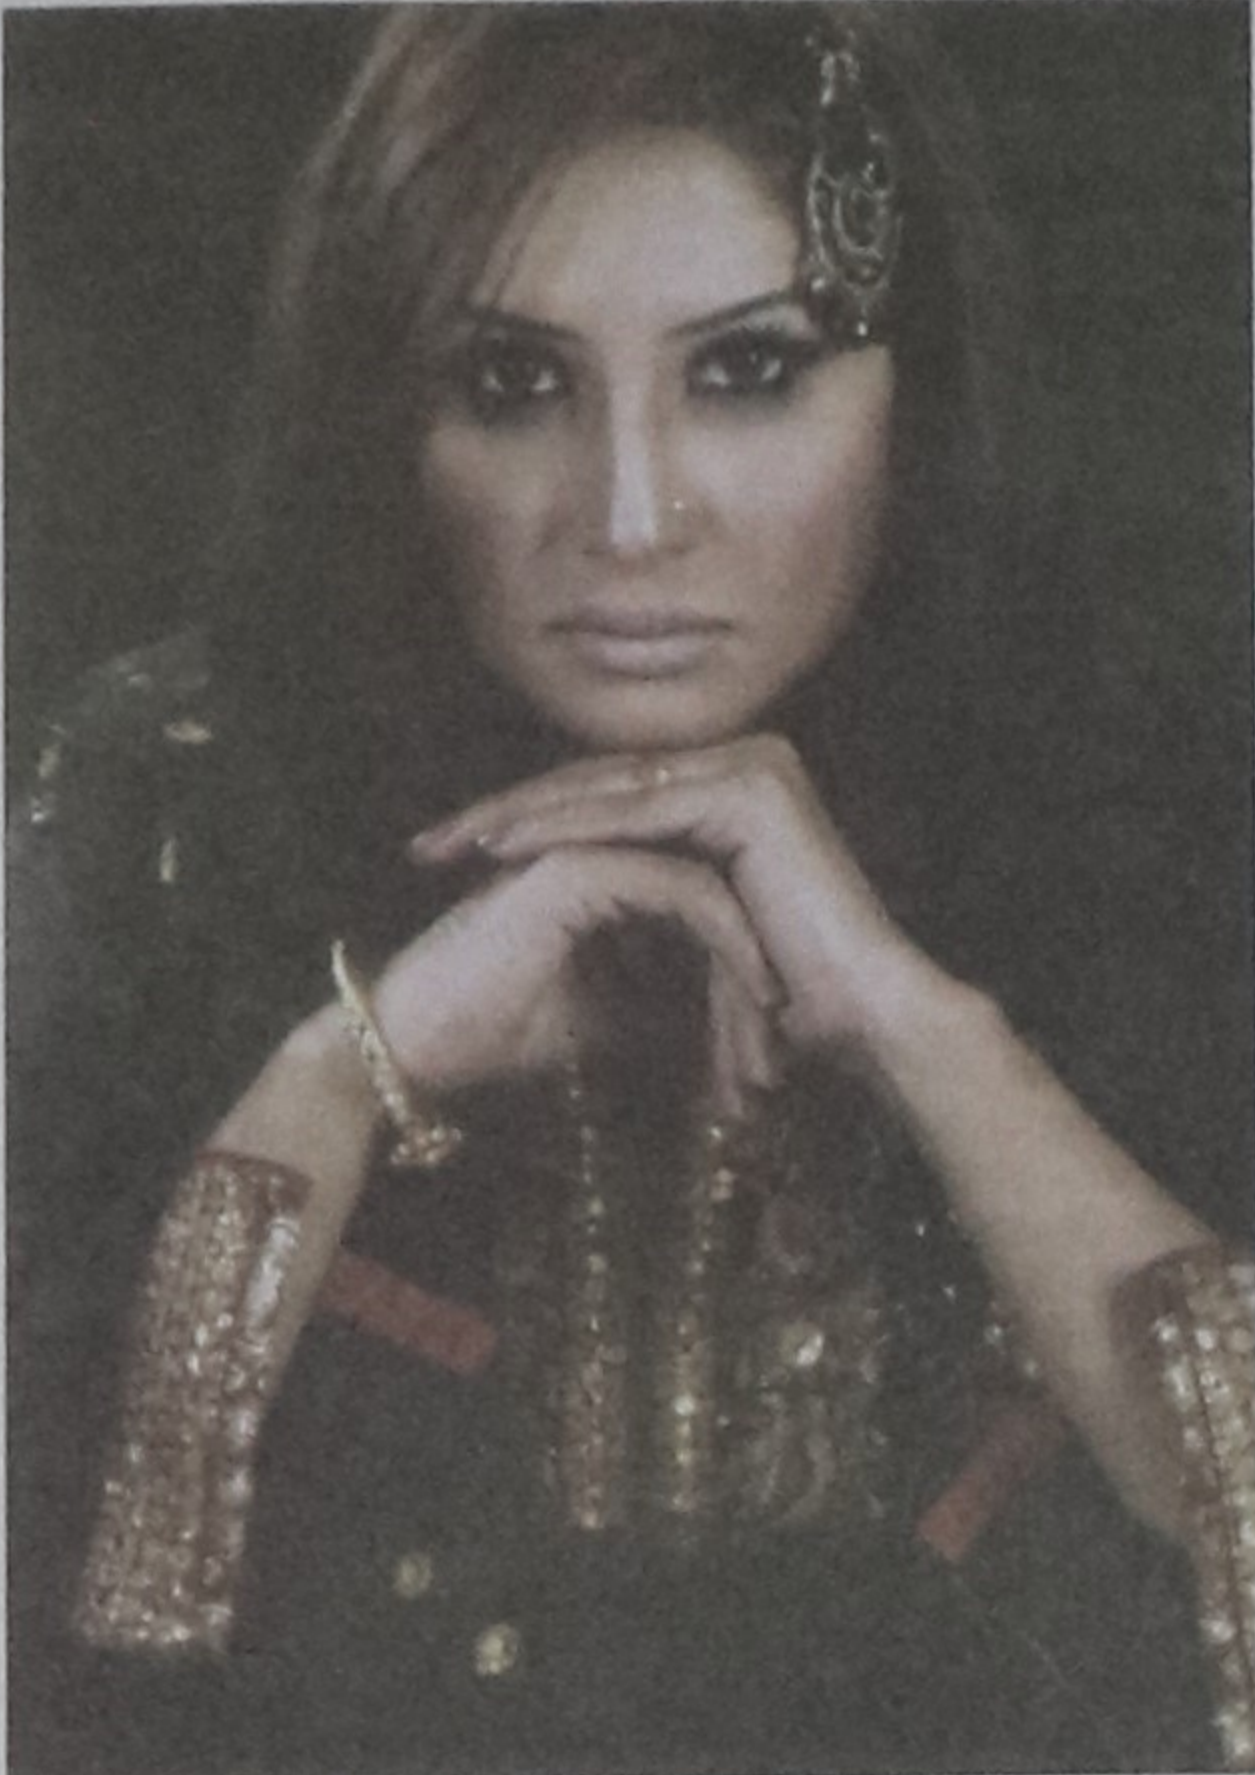

CULTURAL CORRESPONDENT

"I have seen a great deal and gained a lot of experience. Along the way I have learnt that the world is not so easy as I once perceived it. Gone are those days of innocence when I used to trust everyone and believe whatever I was told. Now I am more in touch with reality," said actress-model Farah Ruma, sitting back in her couch and gazing into the distance.

Beginning with the telefilm "Shako" on Channel 1, this multifaceted actress needs no further introduction. She currently appears in two dramas. Other than that she had done numerous telefilms, plays, TVCs and so on.

"There was a time when advertisements were model-oriented, but now the pattern has changed. Today it's theme based and there is very little scope as the image is a deciding factor and may not always suit me. So I have drifted away a bit from that industry," Ruma says.

"Kacher Putu," (aired on Channel 1) written by Nima Rahman and directed by Ashraf Haque Pipu, is a story entwined around the life of two friends, enacted by Ruma and Mousumi Biswas. The duo, who share much in common from their very childhood, both fall for a guy.

"14th May @" is a story with a twist. The e-mail addresses of a boy Namir and a girl Zara are the same, 14May@... Subsequently they become online friends. At length, when the girl's marriage is arranged with someone else, they realise they are in love with each other. They wish they could go five years back and, surprisingly, they wake up one day to find that they really are five years back in time. Ruma plays the character of Zara here.

Ruma is one of the judges of the talent hunt, "Lux-Channel i Super Star 2009". She also has some plays coming up like "Jolkona" on ATN Bangla, and "Asharey Golpo" on ntv.

A quick peak at the life and interests of Farah Ruma:

Favourite movies: "The Pursuit of Happiness," "Titanic".

Favourite songs: Love all Bangla songs. At this moment, Hridoy Khan's songs.

Favourite pastimes: Travelling, spending time with my family.

Favourite books: Science fiction, particularly, Zafar Iqbal's stories.

Favourite brands: Giordano. I also go for traditional wear from my elder sister's boutique Jundub Creation, where I usually get my shalwar-kameez, which are both simple and elegant. Let me also add that the material is very important to me.

Dreams: To travel to other countries, which I have not yet visited. To see the pyramids of Egypt and the art of France, among others.

What did you do on Eid: Had two Eids, as I was in Qatar on Eid day but came back home at 10 pm because I was keen to spend time with my family.

Few words: I want to be remembered as an adept actress, a responsible daughter, a loving sister, wife, friend... I want success in every sphere of my life.

Centre for Asian Theatre staged its production

"The Lady from the Sea" at the National Theatre Hall, Bangladesh

Shilpakala Academy on October 5. The Ibsen play was adapted by Ragnhild Mæril and Un-Magritt Nordesth. Khairul Alam Shabuj has translated the play in Bengali.

Norwegian director and ballet artiste Un-Magritt Nordesth has directed the play.

Penélope and Javier reportedly engaged

Just like a scene from Woody Allen's "Vicky Cristina Barcelona," Penélope Cruz and Javier Bardem's relationship seems striking and loving to any outsider. Although, Penélope and Javier are considerably more secretive than Juan Antonio and Maria Elena, usually avoiding the paparazzi and public statements regarding their relationship.

Differences between their real life and the characters they play is definitely a good thing for the couple, as their on-screen counterparts in "Vicky" were often violent in the passion of their relationship, even trying to kill each other at one point! In real life, Penélope and Javier are much less obvious with their relationship, though now it seems the Spanish duo has reportedly become engaged!

According to the NY Daily News, a friend of the Oscar-winning couple said, "They're telling friends they will get married." There have also been rumours that the actress is with child.

Besides the engagement, and their "potential" children, the world can still expect beautiful things from Javier and Penélope on the silver screen. Javier and Penélope's relationship has always been intertwined with their careers, and it would be safe to say that they will continue to work together. Meeting at the young age of 16 for Penélope and 21 for Javier, their first film together was called "Jamón Jamón." The romance sizzled on and off screen despite the age difference. Penélope cut off the relationship soon after but it wasn't long before the duo was back together in 1997 for the film "Live Flesh," and it was like they were never apart.

When "Vicky Cristina Barcelona" came along in 2008, Woody Allen couldn't have picked a more dynamic twosome whose on screen chemistry could only come from the experiences they have off-screen.
