BBC "Buzz" for hip young Bangladeshis

CULTURAL CORRESPONDENT

BBC "Buzz" is quite the buzz in town because of its youth-oriented themes, updates on the cultural arena, tips on current trends and a monitor to what's happening in Bangladesh right now.

Curtain raiser for the show was held yesterday at Marble Room in Dhaka Sheraton Hotel. It was led by Allan Freedman, country director of the BBC World Service Trust, Bangladesh. Various facets of the show were discussed elaborately at the event. Footage of what the show will contain was also screened.

"This show features talented young individuals, for example two up and coming photographers who have decided to take up photography as their sole profession," said Samira Zuberi Himika, communications officer, BBC World Service Trust, Bangladesh.

"This is what this programme is all about. Young people facing challenges with confidence, bringing a new trend but also upholding our traditions and culture. We've also highlighted a dashing Bangladeshi surfer: who would've thought that we'd have an award-winning surfer in our country? We have buzz on celebrities, fashion and more. The presentation will be unique. BBC 'Buzz' is definitely going to be buzz-worthy," she added.

The show will be hosted by Azra Mahmood and Hasib Zuberi Shihan. It will be more like a magazine and will include features on exotic places and undiscovered heroes who do not get the limelight they deserve; debates on the current hot topics; reports on lifestyle and interests; films about Bangladeshi expatriates and animation to widen the usage of proper English.

The show will go on air this Friday (October 23) at 9:20pm on ATN Bangla.

"We have invested our time finding out from young people what they would like most from the media," said Allan Freedman. "The result is BBC 'Buzz', a programme that truly speaks to the interests and aspirations of a younger audience."

"It's a show that is about the best of what's happening today in Bangladesh, and also about where people want to be tomorrow," he added.

Shah Rukh rules catwalk at Mumbai fashion show

PALLAB BHATTACHARYA, New Delhi

It was a real showstopper at Bollywood director Karan Johar-organised India Couture Week in Mumbai: super star Shah Rukh Khan sashaying down the ramp for the first time with his wife Gauri.

The walk down the ramp in Mumbai provided a fitting finale at the weekend event that saw who's who of Bollywood taking part in it including Salman Khan, Aamir Khan, Imran Khan, Hrithik Roshan, Ranbir Kapoor, Sanjay Dutt, Akshay Kumar, Preity Zinta, Deepika Padukone, Kareena Kapoor, Kajol, Katrina Kaif, Saif Ali Khan, Ajay Devgan, Govinda and Sohail and Arbaaz Khan.

However, the centrepiece of the show was undoubtedly Shah Rukh and Gauri. The star couple walked down the ramp in style typical of a show like this and stood for a minute with Gauri keeping her hands on her husband's shoulders before returning.

All other actors and actresses present on the last day of the show gushed about Shah Rukh and Gauri with the opinion almost divided on who did a better -- the husband or the wife.

The unanimous view among Bollywood's stars was that Gauri walked the ramp with élan and confidence even as they were wowed by Shah Rukh.

Acknowledging his gratitude to the star couple and his close friend, Johar said Shah Rukh and Gauri are one of the "most beautiful celebrity couples."
