Remembering Camellia Parvin

Memorial programme at Gallery Chitrak

CULTURAL CORRESPONDENT

Painter Camellia Parvin's first death anniversary was observed on October 19. Born and raised in Rangpur, she was a student of Oriental Department, Faculty of Fine Arts, University of Dhaka. She completed her BFA and MFA from the institute. Parvin could also sing very well. She married noted cartoonist Shishir Bhattacharjee in 1990. The artist passed away last year at the age of 43.

On the occasion of her first death anniversary, a discussion programme and art exhibition was held at Gallery Chitrak, Dhanmondi. Parvin's teachers, relatives, friends and well-wishers were present at the programme.

Renowned artist Hashem

Camellia Parvin

Khan said, "I've known Camellia as my student. I can recall her intense concern for her family. She frequently talked about her daughter before her demise."

Artist Rafiqun Nabi said, "Why is life so short? It's difficult to say something at a condolence meeting."

Sculptor Ferdousi Priyobhassini said, "We knew each other for 7/8 years. Her simplicity and generosity made the relationship deeper over the years. We have not only lost a gifted painter, but also a genuinely caring human being."

Following the discussion, Sadi and Krishnokoli performed songs.

After the programme, the late artist's daughter Srabonti along with her father, Shishir Bhattacharjee, invited the guests to the gallery where an exhibition featuring Parvin's paintings was on.

As an oriental painter, Camellia Parvin had delved deep into human relationships, emotions and romanticism. Her works are lively and take the viewers to a dreamy world. Feminine subjects often got focus in the artist's works.

Towards a better understanding of autism

Cultural programme by HANS

Autistic children sing and dance at the programme.

CULTURAL CORRESPONDENT

A cultural programme was held recently to promote social acceptance of autistic children and generate awareness on autism. The fourth such programme was held at Shaheed Zia Auditorium, National Museum, Shahbagh, Dhaka under the banner of 'Share with Innocence IV', organised by the students' association HANS. There is a general belief that autistic children are mentally retarded; in actual fact they are intelligent and require special care to ensure their development, conveyed the speakers, calling for a mass campaign to ensure the rights of such children.

Students from SWID Bangladesh (Ramna Branch), Autism Welfare Foundation, Beautiful Mind, Caring Glory, Kalyani, School for Gifted Children and Society for the Welfare of Autistic Children rendered songs, performed dance and staged recitation at the cultural programme attended by the parents of autistic children and teachers of the specialised schools. The gifted children revealed their amazing talents, as for instance Shihab, who when asked can tell the day of the week for any date between 1860 and 2284.

Nasima Begum, joint secretary, Ministry of Social Welfare asserted, "The current government is concerned about this issue and plans to build a special home for these special children."

Special guests, Gazi Md Nurul Kabir, managing director, Jatiyo Pratibandhi Unnayan Foundation, complimented Meer Sohrabul Hossain, chairman of HANS for involving young students in the campaign to create awareness on autism.

Naquib Khan, music composer and singer said, "I'd like to thank HANS for organising such a programme and hope that it will continue in this direction."

Dr Nafeesur Rahman, director, National Forum of Organisations Working with the Disabled (NFOWD), called on the public to work for autism in Bangladesh.

HANS chairman Meer Sohrabul Hossain also spoke at the function. He pointed out that the programme was dedicated to gifted children with special needs. He also requested renowned personalities and dignitaries to take initiatives to generate awareness on autism.

The programme was supported by Rahimafrooz Bangladesh Ltd. Media partners were Ekushey TV, New Age and bdnews24.com.

All programmes are in local time. The Daily Star will not be responsible for any change in the programme.
