Mime in motion in Barisal

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Barisal

Paris-based, noted Bangladeshi mime artiste Partha Pratim Majumder, embarked on a four-day workshop in Barisal on November 14. The workshop has been jointly arranged by Shabdaboli Group Theatre of Barisal and Natukey Dhaka at the Studio-Theatre hall of Shabdaboli. Around 20 trainees participated in the workshop.

Shawkat Hossain Hiron, Mayor Barisal City Corporation, while inaugurating the workshop, emphasised the need to promote healthy entertainment and a culturally-oriented environment to keep prevailing social ills at bay. The inaugural session of the workshop was presided over by Syed Dulal, president Shabdaboli, and addressed by Partha Pratim Majumder, Al Amin, director Natukey Dhaka and Faruk Hossain, secretary Shabdaboli. The speakers asserted that western and oriental mine traditions can come together to create new forms of artistic expression which transcend cultural barriers.

While introducing Partha before the Barisal cultural arena Syed Dulal said that he is the torchbearer of universal mime, developed by legendary French mime artiste Marcel Marceau, blending western corporeal mime and pantomime with oriental Chinese Opera, Japanese traditional Kabuki and Noh and Indian Kathakali performing art forms.

Commenting on the secret behind his success as a mime artiste, Partha said, "My keen sense of music and rhythm enables me to move my limbs freely and use gestures as a form of articulation."

"Theatre activists in the workshop will be trained in facial expressions and presentation. Partha will teach the art of mime, and create productions with trainees at the workshop. His devotion and sensitivity uplift an ordinary theme to a sublime height. Depending on the success of the workshop, we will chalk out bigger initiatives in the future," added Syed Dulal.

Contest of wall magazines on climate change held

Sylhet Mayor and other distinguished guests observe the wall magazines.

IQBAL SIDDIQUEE, Sylhet

A divisional contest of wall magazines was held in Sylhet city on Thursday last. Over 50 wall magazines of school, college and university students from the division participated in the event, organised to create mass awareness on the burning issue of climate change. Of them, 20 were selected to contest at the national level. Swajon Samabesh of the Daily Jugantor organised the event with assistance from Oxfam.

The day-long programme included a wall paper display, discussion and cultural function.

The concluding session of the event was held at the Sylhet Zila Parishad auditorium. Artistes of 'Syl-britto', a popular band group of Sylhet performed at the programme. A one-minute silence was also observed to pay homage to the late Baul Samrat Shah Abdul Karim.

Sylhet Mayor Badar Uddin Ahmed Kamran attended the first session as chief guest while the Daily Jugantor bureau chief Rezwan Ahmed chaired the programme. Rashidunnabi Babu of Jugantor and Nazmul Haque of a local NGO were special guests.

The speakers emphasised on the acute need for public awareness on climate change, since the subject had already been raised in international forum while poor nations like ours are the worst sufferers of this scourge of modern times.

Cultural programme marking National Agriculture Day

HOSSAIN SERAJ, Magura

A cultural programme, painting competition for children, discussion and a fair was held at the Nomani maidan in Magura on November 15 to mark National Agriculture Day.

The cultural programme featured modern and folk songs. Local singers performed modern songs, while Nayeab Ali Sarkar and Abdul Majid Boyati rendered folk songs at the event. Enthusiastic people from different walks of life flocked to the venue.

An aggregate of 68 students divided into three groups took part at the painting competition held at the local Shilpakala Academy.

A discussion was also held at the fair premises.

With Deputy Commissioner Muhammad Dilwar Bakht, the discussion was addressed amongst others by the lawmaker of Magura-2 constituency Advocate Biren Sikder; Magura Sadar Upazila Parishad chairman Abu Nasir Bablu; Additional Deputy Commissioner Mohammad Tarikul Alam; Assistant Superintendent of Police Fariduddin Ahmed; Upazila Nirbahi Officer in Magura Sadar Tarikul Islam and Deputy-Director Of Department of Agriculture Extension in Magura Mohammad Enamul Haque.
