Police ride on public vehicles

Owners get no compensation for usage or damage

MUKHLESUR RAHMAN

Lacking adequate number of vehicles, police stations of Dhaka Metropolitan Police mostly use requisitioned vehicles that torment vehicle owners as the authorities do not pay any compensation.

DMP sources said the police stations need over 500 vehicles a day for smooth operation but they only have 132 vehicles of their own and the rest 368 vehicles are collected through either one-day requisitions or regular requisitions.

DMP sources said most of the vehicles of police stations are very old and are broken down most of the times. They said 37 vehicles out of the 132 are reserved for the officers-in-charge of police stations.

On August 18, 265 vehicles were requisitioned for DMP alone and excluding these, two to three vehicles were requisitioned by each of the 37 police stations in the capital.

The police stations maintain around 225 patrol teams and over 100 check posts across the city by mobilising every day around 7,000 police personnel from the barracks, public order management (POM) in Mirpur and the police stations.

Vehicle owners alleged that the DMP authorities do not pay compensation for requisitioning vehicles and using them or for any damage done to the vehicle when it was being used by the state.

They do not even pay for the drivers' and their helpers' food, they alleged.

An office bearer of a pick-up van association told The Daily Star that since 2002 they have been letting two police stations use four of their pick-up vans as requisitioned vehicles so that they leave their other vehicles running on four routes in the capital.

Mohammad Rafiq was pleading to the traffic sergeant not to requisition his microbus just two days after it was requisitioned.

Rafiq's microbus was taken to a place behind the Passport Office in Agargaon where around 100 other buses, minibuses and pick-up vans were already parked.

Five hours had gone by since the microbus was stopped around 8:00pm near Pongu Hospital and Rafiq was still looking for a way to get his vehicle released. "I know what I will have to go through if my vehicle is requisitioned," Rafiq said.

Finally Rafiq found a way.

Factions to accept Khaleda's decision

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Top leaders of different factions of Chittagong BNP yesterday pledged to accept party chairperson's decision regarding the city unit committee unconditionally.

Dejected by the fact that the Chittagong council of the party on Monday was foiled because of intra-party clashes, they urged the party high command to form the new committee "with all dedicated leaders".

During a closed-door meeting with party Secretary General Khandaker Delwar Hossain, top leaders of Chittagong BNP Abdullah Al Noman and Amir Khasru Mahmud Chowdhury blamed each other for the clashes.

A faction leader held city unit leadership responsible for the foiled council while another alleged that a few party men aided by outsiders were behind the incident.

Towards the end of the four-hour-long meeting, Delwar asked the Chittagong leaders if they would accept the decision of Chairperson Khaleda Zia regarding the city committee. As all the leaders agreed, Delwar collected signatures from them.

After the Chittagong council had been postponed following clashes, Khaleda formed an investigation committee led by Delwar to

Interference of MPs, officials must end

Upazila parishad representatives demand

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Elected representatives from different upazila parishads at a roundtable yesterday demanded that the lawmakers and bureaucrats refrain from interfering in the parishad affairs.

Terming the upazila parishad paralysed, they said 10 months have passed since they took oath but they are yet to participate in the parishad activities. They urged the government to specify their scope of work.

A strong local government is the prerequisite for good governance and balanced economic development, they said, demanding financial empowerment of the UPs to strengthen the local government.

Shushashoner Janney Nagorik (Shujan) organised the roundtable styled "Local government -- Where are we?" in the city's Jatiya Press Club with participation of a number of chairmen and vice chairmen from different upazila parishads.

The chairmen and vice chairmen alleged that the lawmakers are distributing the government allocated food and fertiliser through their party activists, sidelining the elected representatives.

Though the duty of a parliament member is enacting laws, the lawmakers are meddling in

PM pledges food for education for 2m children

HASAN JAHID TUSHER, from Rome

The government will launch a food for education programme this year targeting two million children in the most food-insecure areas to prevent school dropouts there, Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina has said.

Hasina disclosed this at a meeting with World Food Programme Executive Director Josette Sheeran on the sidelines of the World Summit on Food Security, Rome 2009 at the headquarters of Food and Agriculture Organization on Tuesday evening.

She also sought WFP's support to address nutrition problems and create a social safety net in Bangladesh, prime minister's Press Secretary Abul Kalam Azad told journalists after the meeting.

Hasina told the WFP executive director that Bangladesh has been facing adverse impacts of climate change.

The premier appreciated WFP's focus on the ultra poor, the main victims of climate change, which is congruent with the key
