Mapping the neighbourhood

Britto Arts Trust, Bangladesh and Visiting Arts (from UK) jointly organised a two-month long international experimental workshop, titled "1 Mile", which ended on December 4 through a daylong exhibition. The exhibition featured the output of the workshop and took place at different locations within the selected square mile area of Old Dhaka. The exhibition's prime focus was to explore biodiversity, cultural diversity and aesthetic diversity of the chosen area. Working in collaboration with artists, ecologists and researchers, the programme highlighted social and environmental issues and provided learning opportunities via diverse creative mediums. The exhibition focused on four elements -- creativity, community action, environmental engagement and intercultural dialogue. Apart from Old Dhaka, some participants also worked on selected areas of Madhupur forest. At the workshop, 38 participants worked on varied themes in different mediums like video art, installation, performance, digital image and sound, photography, documentary and presentation. The workshop was simultaneously being held in 10 cities of eight countries including Dhaka (Bangladesh), New Delhi (India), Karachi (Pakistan), Shanghai (China), Bradford (England), Johannesburg (South Africa), Edinburgh (Scotland) and Tehran (Iran). Among the participants were Anisuzzaman Sohel, Shahriar Shaon, Amirul Rajiv, Sanjida Shaheed Sunny, Tarun Ghosh, Tayeba Begum Lipi, Rokeya Sultana, Mohammad Ismail Hossain Nelay, Naima Haque and Nazmul Ahsan.
