Freedom fighter Aku Mia, who risked his life for freedom of the country in 1971, is now fighting to survive with his gangrene-affected back.

The war hero, now struggling to maintain his six-member family by begging, cannot even think of treatment at his own cost.

During a fight with Pakistan army in Noakhali, the valiant freedom fighter received a few bullets in his body but continued to take part in the war until the final victory.

Carrying a bullet inside his body for the last 38 years, the valiant war hero now suffers from gangrene in his back from where fluids ooze out.

"I was 22 years old when I joined the Liberation War after hearing the announcement of Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman," he told The Daily Star correspondent recently.

"When Independence

Day or Victory Day comes, the government gives us special food and arranges reception for us [freedom fighters]. But we have to pass miserable days throughout the year. Why making such fun?" he said.

Aku Mia now lives at a rented hut at Shalbagun in Sadar upazila for Tk 300 a month.

"It is not possible for me to maintain my family by begging. I have no land. I do not know where I will be laid for final rest after my death," Aku Mia murmured.

"Freedom fighter Aku Mia received a few bullets during a fight with the Pakistani occupation forces. He is now struggling to survive, Mongshathowai Chowdhury, president of district unit command of Muktijoddha Sangsads.

"Nobody wants to sit beside him as bad smell comes out of his gangrene-affected body. We have urged the government to take steps for his treatment so that he can live well," he said.

A health complex needs care

Acute crisis of doctors, medicines while stray dogs move at large

QUAZI AMANULLAH, Khulna

Dakope Upazila Health Complex has become repulsive to treatment seekers as the 50-bed hospital is beset with manifold problems including serious manpower crisis and shortage of medicines.

Amid security problem, patients often pass sleepless nights as they are scared of stray dogs moving around.

"Stray dogs often invade the compound," said a female patient who requested anonymity.

"We are really afraid as furious dogs sometimes enter the hospital ward even," said another patient.

Many patients, especially those who have to stay on the floor due to shortage of beds, are often compelled to buy food and medicines from outside, they said.

Stray dogs moving at large inside the hospital sometimes snatch patients' diet, eyewitnesses said.

Admitting unhygienic condition, shortage of beds, crisis of medicines, lack of medical services and absence of requisite physicians at Dakope Upazila Health Complex, upazila Chairman Sheikh Abul Hossain said the hospital cannot provide life saving drugs for patients suffering from critical diseases.

"Proper medical services for patients cannot be given as there is shortage of manpower including physicians and nurses. There is crisis of medicines too. Besides, patients always outnumber the beds," said Dr Akbar Hossain, medical officer of the health complex.

Fifteen posts of physicians and nurses have been lying vacant for the last three years. The operation theatre has also remained inactive for two years.

This hospital, upgraded to a 50-bed one in 2005, is now in urgent need of consultant physicians for all departments including medicine, surgery, pathology, cardiology, ENT, ophthalmology and dentistry, the medical officer said.

The hospital has no paediatrician although the number of child patients is on rise, he said.

Asked about the entrance of stray dogs into hospital wards, he said it occurred due to absence of security guards, especially at night.

Masud was first admitted to Rangpur Medical College and Hospital in a critical condition and later shifted to Dhaka Medical College and Hospital. His right leg was amputated as the injuries formed gangrene.

Demanding immediate arrest of criminals and exemplary punishment, hundreds of agitated people of V-aid Road and Gaibandha municipal area on December 6 besieged the offices of the deputy commissioner (DC) and police superintendent.

On November 5, the gang demanded a toll of Tk 20,000 from contractor Masud Rana. Being refused, the criminals called out Masud from his house next day and took him to V-aid Road and later to nearby Banglabazar area and hacked with Chinese axe and sword.

The criminals fled the spot leaving the victim with critical leg, hand and head injuries.

Hospital. His right leg was amputated as the injuries formed gangrene.

They also formed a human chain in front of DC office where the speakers sought trial of the culprits under speedy trial act.

The victim is still fighting for life at Dhaka Medical College and Hospital.

Since the incident, local people brought out several processions and held protest meetings demanding exemplary punishment of criminals.

Natore agitates for gas link

A CORRESPONDENT, Natore

People from all walks of life in Natore have started agitation as work for installing pipelines to supply natural gas to Rajshahi bypassing Natore is going on.

Different organisations have held press conference, rallies and processions and formed human chains in the district town demanding supply of gas to Natore.

They have already launched a signature campaign and vowed to continue agitation until the demand is met.

Sources concerned said pipelines are being installed to supply gas to Rajshahi through Bonpara in Natore from Sirajganj, keeping many important installations, including Natore town, outside the gas supply project.

Natore Chamber of Commerce and industry President Aminul Haque said though the road link of Natore with rest of the country is good, the development of the area has remained stalled due to lack of natural gas.

Demand for gas supply to Natore is getting stronger. A human chain was formed in front of Natore central mosque yesterday to press home the demand.

Addressing a rally at the venue, the agitators urged the government to take immediate steps to supply gas to Natore. Otherwise, they threatened to launch a tougher agitation programme.

Many organisations, including Partex Group, have purchased land in Natore but they cannot set up industry due to lack of gas supply.
