Asian shares mostly gain

Jobs data on Friday indicated a recovery in the world's biggest economy was gaining traction. However, analysts said the advances of the greenback in the past three sessions had led dealers to take a break Tuesday.

The dollar fell to 93.98 yen in Tokyo afternoon trade from 94.31 yen late Monday in New York.

The greenback moved to the higher 94-yen level Friday on news that 162,000 jobs were created in the US in March, the most in three years.

New York's main contract light sweet crude for May delivery eased five cents to 86.57 dollars a barrel.

"Oil prices have softened a little bit but (are) still at extremely high levels," said David Moore, a commodity strategist with the Commonwealth Bank of Australia in Sydney.

"Fundamentally, we still have very strong price gains over the last couple of weeks and we are seeing the market take a breather after a very strong run higher."
