Grade 10 Students Showcased Their Personal Projects

STUDENTS of Grade 10 displayed their personal projects in the evening of 14 February at ISD after all the heard work in creating their products.

The Personal Project encourages all students to be risk-takers and inquirers. It allows each student to focus on something that interests him or her and by doing so, promotes the celebration of his or her individual creativity. Each student was assigned a supervisor to ensure that he/she was making satisfactory progress and that they were going in the right direction. Teachers, families, friends and other schools were invited to view the products and talk to the students about their journey. This activity also help students become better communicators as more than often their projects make them talk to people, listen to different points of view and stretch their personal boundaries.
