Age cannot wither him
Shakespeare's Education and Career

Mohit Ul Alam

In respect of education William Shakespeare (1564-1616) has a similarity with our two major poets: Rabindranath Tagore and Kazi Nazrul Islam. As our two poets had not had much of a formal education (Nazrul passed the Entrance Examination, which is equivalent to today's S. S. C. Examination, and Tagore went to England to study law, but returned without a degree), so Shakespeare had not either. In fact, the few records that are available do not give any solid proof of how Shakespeare received education as a young boy.
