

Iran to face toughest UN sanctions

BBC ONLINE

Iran faces its toughest sanctions for failing to comply with UN demands over its nuclear enrichment, the US says.

The Security Council is set to vote on a fourth round of sanctions to tighten financial curbs on Iran, while expanding a limited arms embargo.

US Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said they were "the most significant sanctions that Iran has ever faced".

Bu Iran's president warned his country would not agree to nuclear talks if the sanctions were imposed.

Iran agreed in May to deposit 1,200kg of low-enriched uranium with Turkey, in return for reactor fuel, but the US and its Western allies said the agreement was too little too late.

Although it was watered down during negotiations with Russia and China on Tuesday, it does tighten existing restrictions on areas like shipping and finance.

Its proposals include:

- Prohibiting Iran from buying several categories of heavy weapons including attack helicopters and missiles

- Urging all states to inspect cargo suspected of containing banned items to and from Iran in their territory, including seaports and airports

- Calling on countries to block financial transactions and ban the licensing of Iranian banks if they suspect a link to nuclear activities

- Increasing the number of individuals - reportedly including senior nuclear officials - and companies targeted with asset freezes and travel bans

Hillary was upbeat about the prospect of the new resolution, which has the support of all five of the UN's veto-holding members.

Brazil and Turkey - also Security Council members - say the sanctions will kill attempts to revive negotiations with Iran, and put that case forward in a last-minute special session at the UN on Tuesday.

Bhopal case still open for ex-chief Warren Anderson

BBC ONLINE, PTI, New Delhi

India's law minister has said that the case against those responsible for the Bhopal gas leak in 1984 is not closed.

Veerappa Moily said that US citizen Warren Anderson, then CEO of Union Carbide, the plant owner, still faces charges for the disaster.

The comments come amid outrage by campaigners over convictions by Indian courts, which handed out two-year jail sentences to eight people.

Congress today said that the UPA government should make every effort to extradite Warren Anderson, the Chairman and CEO of Union Carbide when the Bhopal gas tragedy took place. "Congress is of the firm opinion that the extradition process should be completed and he (Anderson) should be brought back."

We hope government will take it to its logical conclusion," Congress spokesperson Jayanthi Natarajan told reporters here. She said the Congress wanted every step to be taken to ensure that the perpetrators of the world's worst industrial disaster stand trial and people who were wronged receive justice.

UK to tighten immigration rules for partners

BBC ONLINE

Ministers are bringing forward to the autumn measures requiring many immigrants marrying UK citizens to prove they have a command of English.

The measures, which Labour had planned to introduce in July 2011, will apply to partners coming to the UK from areas outside the EU, such as South Asia.

Home Secretary Theresa May said the move would "help promote integration".

Campaigners said they supported efforts to help immigrants learn English, but the plans were discriminatory.

Under the new rules, anyone from outside the EU applying for a visa to join their spouse or partner will have to prove they have a basic command of English, to help them get by in daily life, before their application is approved.

The measure applies to same-sex partners.

At present, visa applicants have to show only that their marriage or partnership is genuine and that they can financially support themselves.

Under the new rules, the applicants will have to show their grasp of English is at the same level, at least, of a five to seven-year-old.

The former Labour government proposed similar plans in 2007.

The home secretary said: "I believe being able to speak English should be a pre-requisite for anyone who wants to settle here. The new English requirement for spouses will help promote integration, remove cultural barriers and protect public services.

Don't skip brain food; eat breakfast

INDO ASIAN NEWS SERVICE, New Delhi

Are you suffering from acidity, obesity or reduced attention span? Perhaps you are skipping breakfast, also called brain food and the most important meal of the day.

People in cities tend to give breakfast a miss perhaps due to hectic lifestyles or in the belief that it will keep them slim. But experts say if could end up making people obese.

Describing it as a change in perception and lifestyle, she said: "People usually do not eat because of their tight work schedules, late night dinners, zero figure obsession or just anything else that keeps them away from a healthy breakfast."

According to the dieticians, breakfast is most essential. They say breakfast must be balanced and should include nutrients like calcium (milk or milk products), proteins and fibre (sprouts or cereal), and some amount of antioxidants (apples, strawberries, banana, oranges, etc) and vitamins.
