Iffat Ara's artistic tribute to Tagore

Solo exhibition in Paris

The artist

TAKIR HOSSAIN

Singer-artist Iffat Ara Dewan's latest solo painting exhibition will open on July 3 at Atelier Adzak International Arts Space, in Paris, France. The exhibition will continue till July 18. On the occasion of the 150th birth anniversary of Rabindranath Tagore, Dewan, an ardent admirer of the Noble laureate poet, dedicates the exhibition to the maestro.

The works included at the exhibition are in oil, acrylic, mixed media and chalk pastel. Earlier, she used only pastel as her favourite medium.

Dewan is fond of flowers and she believes that they embody beauty and innocence. At times, she portrays deep forests where various kinds of flowers are noticeable. Her style is quite simple and one can easily comprehend her themes. Subtlety and minimalism are evident traits. Sometimes she limits her paintings to just blooming flowers and vase. Her objects are part and parcel of nature and her works make us contemplate and rethink our existence in nature. Through her works, the artist articulates our association with nature in a romantic setting.

Dewan's initiation into painting happened in the 1990s. She has been working on the same themes -- which is a monotonous aspect of her works.

Dewan's works give the viewers an impression of still life and create a solitary mood with their smooth ground, soft tone and evocative lines. At times, her subjects look stiff but her warm colours are inviting nevertheless.

Dewan mainly seems to concentrate on colours and prefers shades like blue, yellow, crimson and grey. Both subdued and vivid are executed on her canvas. The artist makes an attempt to restrain her application of colours so that they look reserved, yet vibrant, simultaneously.

Women rule Forbes' Celebrity power list

Women claimed three of the top five spots in Forbes magazine's 2010 Celebrity power list, with singer Lady Gaga making her first entry and Oprah Winfrey retaking her No.1 position.

Talk show host Winfrey earned an estimated $315 million, putting her atop the annual Forbes' Celebrity 100 list for the fourth time. Winfrey reclaimed the No. 1 spot from 2009 winner Angelina Jolie, who fell to 18th in the latest ranking.

Grammy-winning R&B singer Beyonce rose to second with an estimated $87 million from a tour and album sales, together with deals in fashion, fragrance and other endorsements.

Despite the worldwide recession, Forbes said that celebrity earnings remain "remarkably resilient, with this year's stars having earned a collective $4.7 billion during the past year, up from $4.1 billion in 2009."

Forbes' ranking is a measurement of entertainment-related earnings over the past 12 months as well as exposure in print, television, radio, online, and social media.

"Avatar" director James Cameron jumped back onto the Forbes list for the first time since 1999, landing at No. 3 after his movie earned a record $2.7 billion at worldwide box offices.

Glam pop star Lady Gaga made the list for the first time, taking fourth place with estimated earnings of $62 million.

Golfer Tiger Woods is the world's fifth most powerful celebrity, despite a scandal that took him out of golfing for five months and lost him several lucrative endorsements.

"He managed to earn $105 million during the past year, even as his revenue streams have diminished and his golf course design business struggles in the global economy," said Forbes.
