A rising star

Baul singer Abdul Hamid

AZIBOR RAHMAN, Jhenidah

Baul singer Abdul Hamid is a rising star. A regular performer of Baul songs in Jhenidah and neighbouring districts, he unfailingly mesmerises the audience. Today he is a reputed Baul singer in Jhenidah.

Abdul Hamid was born in Harinakundo village in Jhenidah district. His father Sabed Ali is a government employee. Sabed Ali is very fond of Lalon songs. Only naturally, Hamid was inspired by Lalon songs right from his childhood.

Hamid completed his primary education in 1996 and passed the SSC exams in 2002. Since then he has immersed himself in Lalon's ideology and songs. Later, he learnt Lalon music under Aser Ali for seven years. Next he took training under Nafiz Master for four years. Besides, Hamid collected Lalon songs from Buhari Shah, Panju Shah and Duddu Shah. He has collected about 800 Lalon songs and has composed around 70 songs. He is a member of the Baul Academy and Lalon Bhumi Theater in Jhenidah.

Hamid published his first album in January 2009 with the assistance of the Baul Academy of Harinakundo. The album is titled "Amon Samaj Kobe Srijon Hobey".

Hamid performs Baul songs in Jhenidah, Kushtia, Meherpur and Chuadanga districts.

As Sayeed Abu Bakar, assistant professor of Government Lalon Shah College and researcher of Lalon Shah, notes, Hamid always attracts a large audience when he performs Lalon songs. Another Baul devotee Akbor Saijee, said that Hamid has high potential and will go on to be a reputed Baul singer.

Hamid told The Daily Star that he finds peace in Lalon Shah's ideology. He will continue with Lalon songs and conduct research on Lalon in future. He added that Harinakundo is Lalon's birthplace and so he will try to preserve Lalon's heritage by performing Lalon songs in every nook and corner of the country.

"Emma" as "Aisha"

PALLAB BHATTACHARYA, New Delhi

Six years after British director of Indian origin Gurinder Chadha made "Bride and Prejudice", a Bollywood treatment of British writer Jane Austen's novel, it is the turn of debutant Indian director Rajashree Ojha to adapt another book "Emma" by the 19th century author into a Hindi movie "Aisha".

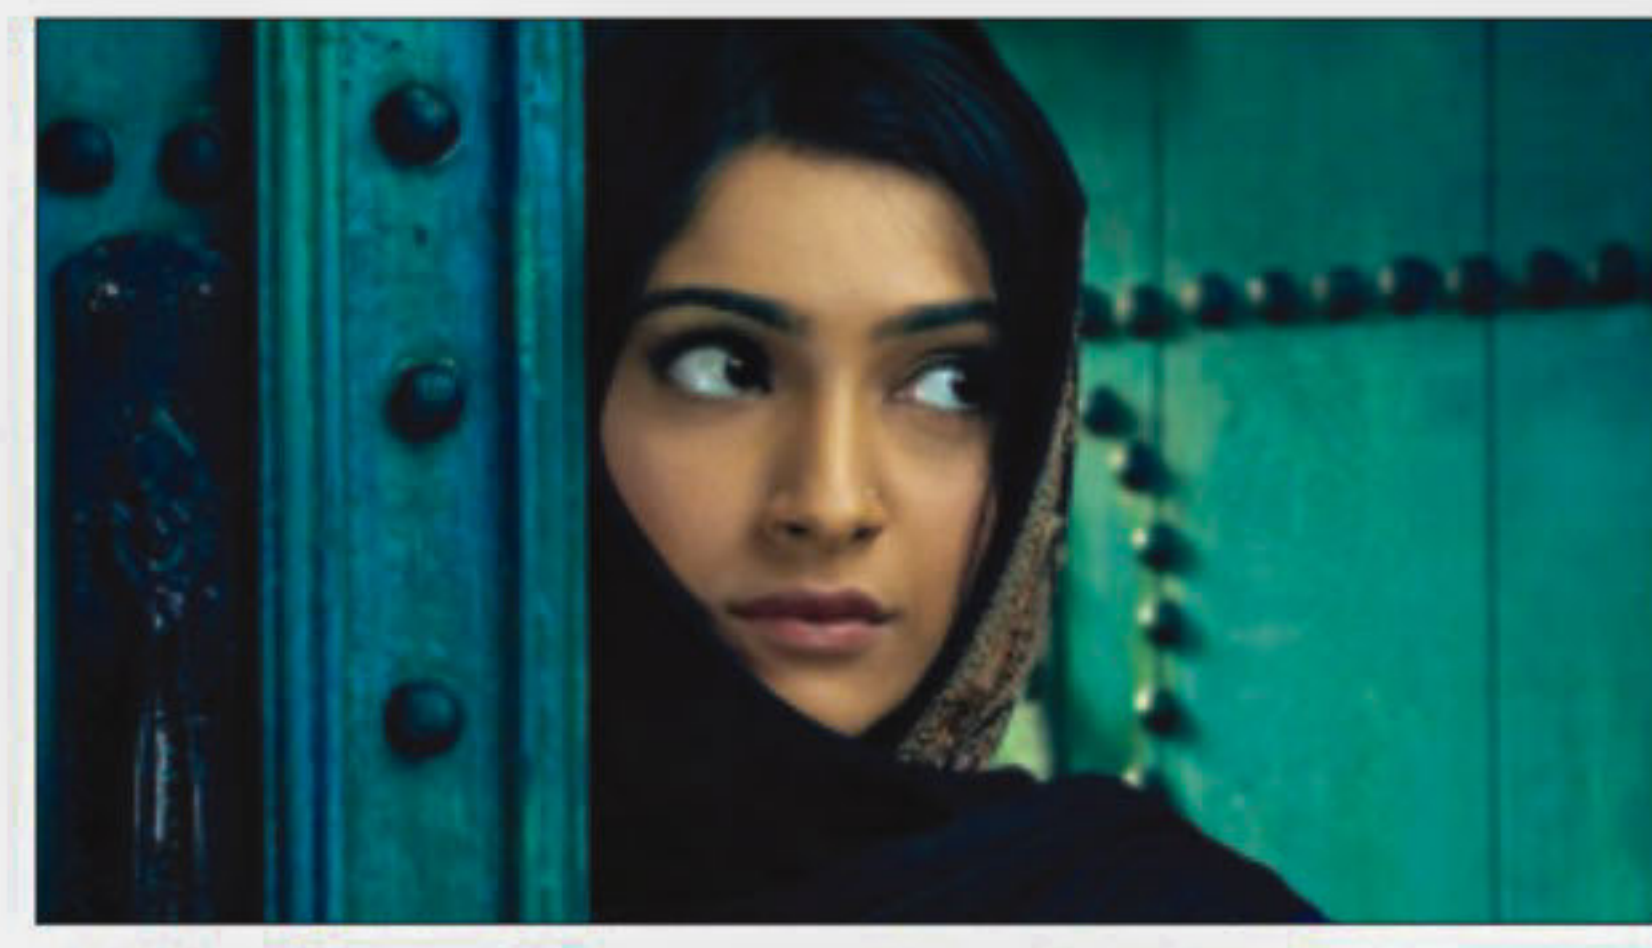

If "Bride and Prejudice" starred Aishwarya Rai in the title role, it is the turn of Sonam Kapoor to essay the same in "Emma". If Martin Henderson, the British actor, played the role of Aishwarya's love interest in Chadha's work, Bollywood's prominent face in off-beat cinema Abhay Deol dons the same role in Aisha.

Ojha feels a good literary work can always be made into a good film and says she has for long wanted to reproduce "Emma" on the big screen.

If "Emma" is about human relationships in 19th century Bath in England, the making of the Bollywood adaptation of the novel is a family affair.

While Sonam Kapoor, who plays Emma Woodhouse in "Aisha", is the elder daughter of Bollywood actor Anil Kapoor, her younger sister Rhea, 23, is its producer.

The Kapoor family had turned up in strength at the music launch of the movie in Mumbai recently--Anil, his wife Sunita, daughters Sonam and Rhea and son Harshvardhan.

Lyricist Javed Akhtar launched the music album of the film whose music has been composed by Amit Trivedi who became well known after "Dev.D".

Anil Kapoor expressed happiness that his daughters have made it big in male-dominated Bollywood. Anil, who has been in Bollywood for over three decades, said what has made him happy is how times have changed. After decades of domination by men in Bollywood, women are now getting their due in different capacities, he added.

Rhea had worked as an assistant on the film "Wake Up Sid".

Sonam, who made her debut in "Saawariya" opposite Ranbir Kapoor and acted in films like "Dilli-6" and "I Hate Luvs Stories", is reported to have got offers from Hollywood actor Ben Stiller who wants to cast her in his film "30 Minutes or Less".

Edoardo Ponti, son of legendary actress Sophia Loren, also phoned Anil Kapoor saying he wants to cast Sonam in his new film.
