

TRYING TO MOVE ON

The image is almost the same as it was a month ago at Nimtoli. Repairs of buildings and shops are going on but very slowly. Small restaurants are opening up again but water crisis in the area persists. While people like Afsana, left, who lost six family members in the worst inferno in Bangladesh, stare at the empty houses, Runa, bottom right, whose engagement party was going on that June night, tries to have a new life after her marriage.
