Exhibition on Bangabandhu and National Poet at National Museum

Dignitaries at the exhibition.

A CORRESPONDENT

On the occasion of the 35th death anniversary of Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, National Museum and Nazrul Institute have jointly organised an art and photography exhibition at its Nalini Kanta Bhattashali Gallery.

To uphold the age-old heritage of Bangla folk music and to generate

Images and portraits of Bangbandhu and Kazi Nazrul Islam are on display at the exhibition. The exhibition ends today.

Promod Mankin, State Minister for Cultural Affairs, inaugurated the exhibition on August 14. Hedayatullah Al Masum, secretary to the Ministry of Cultural Affairs, was present as special guest. Nazrul exponent Professor Rafiqul Islam presided over the programme. Prokash Chandra Das, managing director of National Museum, delivered the welcome speech. Executive director of Nazrul Institute, Rashid Haider, also spoke on the occasion.

Promod Mankin said,

"We've gathered here to pay homage to two great sons of the soil -- Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman and National Poet Kazi Nazrul Islam. Mujib wanted to have a free, prosperous and non-communal state through politics. Nazrul's writings are powerful and expressive, and speak of the common peoples' struggle and dreams."

Hedayatullah Al Masum said, "Bangabandhu and Nazrul were both uncompromising. They were secular and brilliant in their respective fields."

Professor Rafiqul Islam said, "We lost Rabindranath Tagore, Nazrul and Bangabandhu in this month. These three geniuses inspired us to take a stance against all kinds of evil."

Rashid Haider said, "Sheikh Mujib is the architect of our nation. As a matter of fact, what we now call Bangladesh was never independent in the truest sense before 1971. It was Mujib who gave the nation a real taste of sovereignty and independence."

Prokash Chandra Das said, "Bangabandhu passionately loved poet Nazrul's works and that's why brought him to Bangladesh from India."

Art workshop on Bangabandhu at Dhaka Art Centre

Shahabuddin Ahmed works on a portrait of Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman at the workshop.

On the occasion of National Mourning Day, Dhaka Art Centre (DAC) has organised a three-day art workshop, titled "Chirodiner Bangabandhu," at its gallery.

Eminent artist Shahabuddin Ahmed and Ramendu Majumdar, chairman of the trusty board of DAC, jointly inaugurated the workshop on August 15. Lawmaker Fazle Nur Taposh was present as a guest. A number of senior painters and DAC trustee board members also attended the inaugural programme.

Senior artists Sheikh Afzal, Jamal Ahmed, Nisar Hossain, Shishir Bhattacharjee, Mohammad Iqbal and some emerging painters of the Faculty of Fine Arts are participating at the workshop. Portraits of Bangabandhu is the theme of the workshop.

Shabana Azmi's weight fluctuation for film lands her in hospital

After four days in hospital, Shabana Azmi is back, finally without pain. It was a membrane under her ear that caused acute pain and landed her in hospital.

What is not known is that this is one more near-catastrophic aftermath of her weight enhancement for Gurinder Chadha's film "It's A Wonderful Afterlife". Ever since she saddled herself with 35 extra kilos to look like a well-fed Punjabi housewife in Chadha's film, Shabana has been besieged by health problems.

Who would have thought the latest complication would land her in hospital? Though Shabana, now weak and resting at home, maintains a diplomatic I-am-now-fine stance, she continues to be extremely vulnerable to illnesses.

Shabana's husband, lyricist-poet Javed Akhtar, says, "The doctors said that the pain was caused by a membrane imbalance triggered off by a drastic gain and loss of weight."

Everyone knows Shabana was required to gain those kilos and then had to go through hell trying to shed them because of various weight-related health complications.

Singer Adnan Sami who has undergone drastic weight loss says the body goes through tremendous pressure once it starts losing the flesh. "It's called body shock. The appetite remains because when you become fat the stomach also expands. But when you lose the weight the stomach remains the same size, so it has to be filled with nonfattening food. I don't know whether Shabana took expert advice before gaining and losing that much weight. She should have," Sami says.
