Playing with movement, light and shadow

Jean-Philippe Pernot exhibition at Bengal Gallery

Pernot's works display his fascination with the human form.

TAKIR HOSSAIN

Bengal Gallery of Fine Arts is holding an exhibition, titled "Apparitions and Cinegraphies", featuring images by French photographer Jean-Philippe Pernot.

Pernot is mainly a figurative photographer and his works highlight movement. Use of shadow and shade are noticeable attributes in his works; light is rarely seen. Longing and malady are recurring themes.

Pernot has earned acclaim over the last two decades. His work is technique based and his photographs can be compared to paintings. A number of his images delineate the human form and compositions -- his signature style. The images that frame the play between light and shade give off the impression of abstract art.

Pernot's images are very expressive and thought provoking. At times, the images are meaningful, and seemingly connected to the cosmic world. In this style of photography, visual symbols signify abstract ideas. The photographer avoids capturing particular pleasant moments or obvious beauty. Metaphor is the most tangible part of his works. His images are large in size and a symbol stands for something with a larger meaning.

Pernot's works display his fascination with the human form and varied expressions. Action is the key aspect of his works and the images depict perpetual motion from different perspectives. The photographer walks the line between still image and cinematic motion -- blurring the edges.

Movements of his subjects narrate their untold stories. Pernot's hopes and aspirations are connected with the masses of the world. His images are painted with light and shade, but the hues and darkness on his canvas are from a palette of raw emotions.

Pernot was born in the city of Eminence, France. He has held several solo and group exhibitions at home and abroad. His images have been printed in different prestigious publications like Tokyo, Magenta, Paradise and Magenta Hell.

The exhibition ends tomorrow.

Janmashtami celebrations across the country

AMINUL ISLAM, Mymensingh

On the occasion of Janmashtami, a colourful procession was brought out in the district town on September 1. The procession, joined by hundreds of devotees, attired as deities in the ancient Hindu pantheon, attracted many enthusiastic onlookers.

The procession was brought out from Durgabari Temple and paraded the main roads of the town.

Different institutions, including Durgabari Temple, Pranob Math, Zila

Puja Udjapan Parishad, Hindu-Buddhist-Christian Oikya Parishad and representatives of the temples of the town and outside, joined the celebration.

Earlier, a discussion was held at the premises of Durgabari Temple. Motiur Rahman, MP addressed the discussion as chief guest, while Deputy Commissioner of Mymensingh Lokman Hossain Miah; Police Superintendent Khandaker Golam Faruq and Mayor of Mymensingh Municipality Ikramul Haque Titu were special guests at the inaugural session.

Principal of Ramakrishna Ashram

Srimat Swami Sarbesharananda and Advocate Bikash Roy, president of Hindu-Buddhist-Christian Oikya Parishad were the discussants.

The well-known local personalities addressed the rally and said that Lord Sri Krishna, who vanquished evil, came into this world on the 8th of Bhadra. The Hindus observe the day every year with various programmes.

Lord Krishna's teachings, they added, should be disseminated among devotees so that communal harmony can be assured.

The procession, joined by hundreds of devotees, attired as deities in the ancient Hindu pantheon, attracted many enthusiastic onlookers.
