Vignettes of the Liberation War

Two documentaries by Fauzia Khan

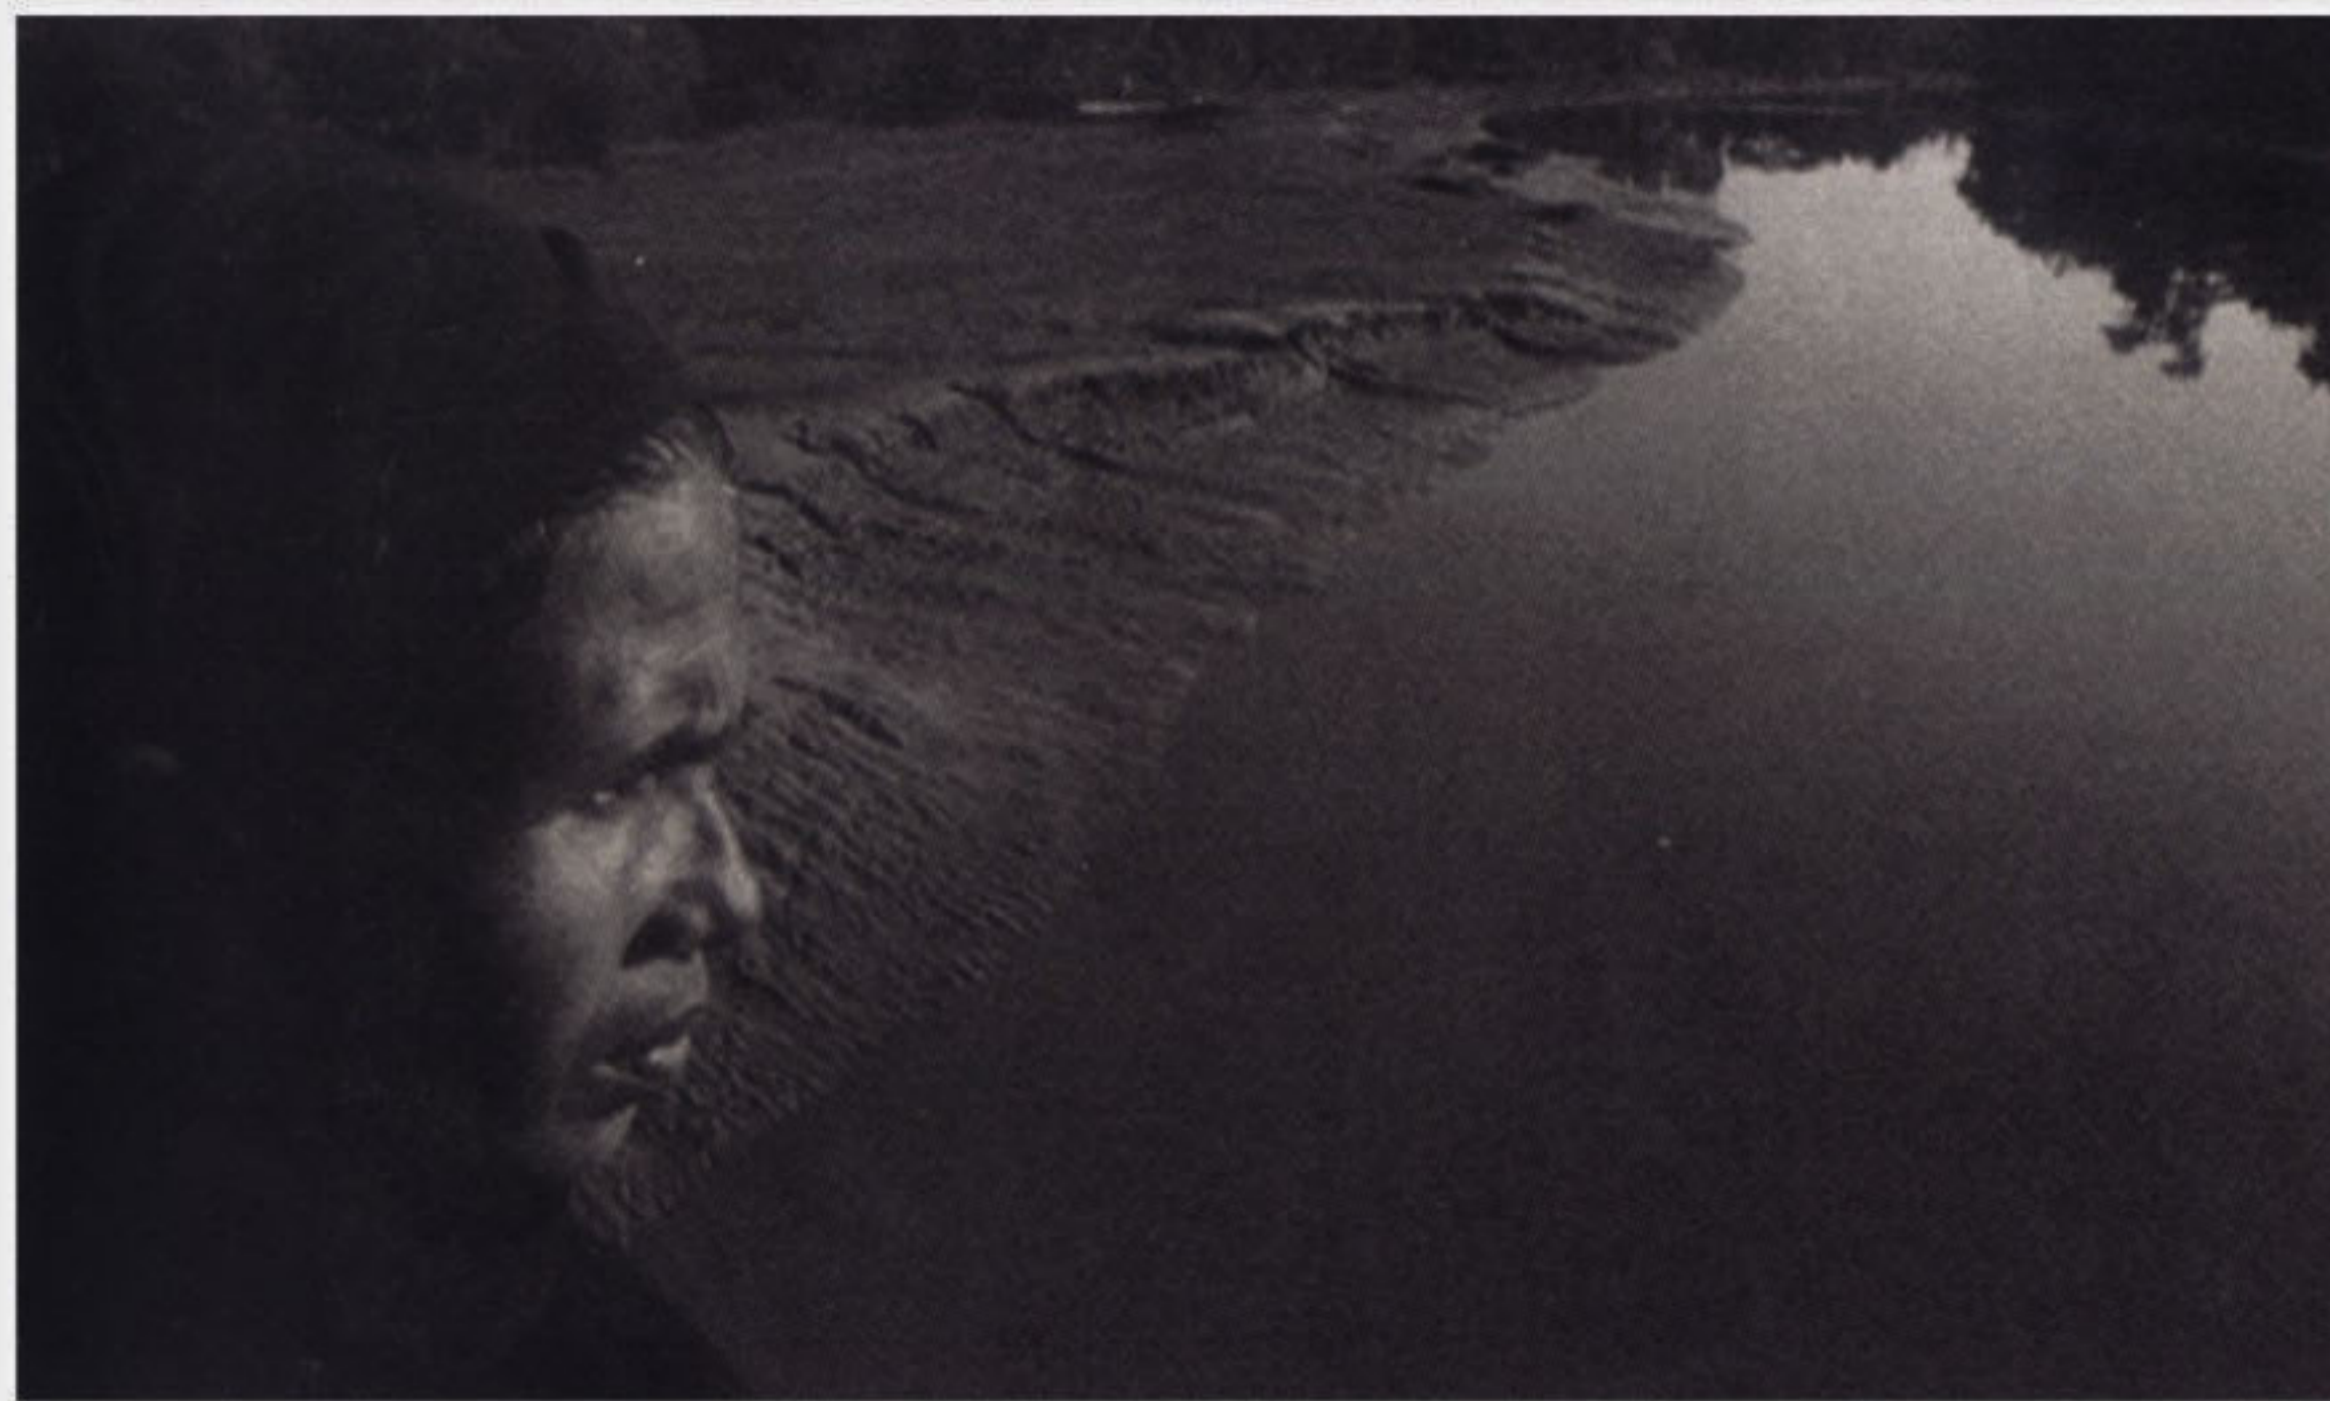

JAMIL MAHMUD

Independent filmmaker Fauzia Khan has made two documentaries on the Liberation War. DVDs of the documentaries "Shey Kotha Boley Jaye" and "Kothaye Pabo Tarey" will be released today. Wartime brutality and a nation yearning for freedom get the focus in both films.

DVDs of the documentaries will be launched today at 5 pm at Poet Sufia Kamal Auditorium, National Museum, Shahbagh in Dhaka. Planning Minister Air Vice Marshal (Retd) AK Khandakar is set to be the chief guest at the launch.

"Shey Kotha Boley Jaye" brings to light the untold stories of Nur Khatun and her father Abdus Salam of Mangalkandi village, under Feni district. During the war, collaborators of the Pakistan army killed Abdus Salam and brutally tortured Nur Khatun, an adolescent at the time. The film becomes an outlet for Nur Khatun's concealed pain and pent up rage caused by the abuse she lived through.

The other film, "Kothaye Pabo Tarey" narrates the story of Rabinranath Sarkar, who has been missing since 1971. Rabinranath disappeared from his residence in Helachiya village, under Manikganj district, during the war. There's been no trace of him but Rabinranath's family believes that he will be back someday. "Stories of Nur Khatun and Rabinranath Sarkar are just two examples of numerous untold stories of war crimes. The nation has yet hear these stories," said the director of the film, who has been working on the subject, war crimes, over the last couple of years. Fauzia also informed that they would accord a special reception to Nur Khatun at the DVD launch.

Fauzia hopes that these two documentaries would play a role in encouraging the public demand of the implementation of the trial of war criminals.

Both documentaries are made in DV PAL format. The original running time of "Shey Kotha Boley Jaye" is 38 minutes, while "Kothaye Pabo Tarey" runs for 26 minutes. Fauzia also did the research work for the documentaries. Ray Vision has produced the films.

Both documentaries had their television premiere on ATN Bangla. Manusher Jonno Foundation has financially helped to release the DVDs.

3rd Int'l Film Week at JU begins tomorrow

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Jahangirnagar Students' Film Society (JSFS) is going to arrange a weeklong international film festival at Jahangirnagar University (JU). The festival will begin tomorrow at the Zahir Raihan Auditorium, JU campus and will continue till October 9. Vice Chancellor of the university, Professor Sharif Enamul Kabir, is expected to inaugurate the festival.

The festival will feature 19 films from different countries including Bangladesh, India, Iran, South Korea, Turkey, Brazil, Peru, Germany, Spain, Serbia, UK and USA.

The critically acclaimed films to be screened at the festival include -- "Besouro" (Brazil), "Black Cat White Cat" (Serbia), "The Japanese Wife" (India), "The Milk of Sorrow" (Peru), "3-Iron" (South Korea), "Nodi O Nari" (Bangladesh), "Waltz with Bashir" (Israel), "Requiem for a Dream" (USA) and "Lumiere and Company".

The festival will commence through screening of "Lumiere and Company". The film is a collaboration, using the original Cinématographe camera invented by the Lumiere brothers, of 41 renowned international filmmakers such as Michael Haneke, Gaston Kaboré, Abbas Kiarostami, Spike Lee, Merchant & Ivory, Idrissa Ouedraogo, Régis Wargnier, Wim Wenders and Zhang Yimou.

The organisers informed that at the inaugural programme they would pay homage to the recently deceased film personalities Baby Islam and Badal Rahman. Filmmaker Morshedul Islam will be present as special guest at the inaugural programme.

Besides film screening, a three-day workshop will also be held as part of the festival. The workshop will feature lectures on Evolution of Film Language, Primary features of Alternative and Documentary Film, and Basic Film Techniques and Screenplay.

A filmmaking contest and a weeklong exhibition featuring posters, books and magazines are also part of the festival.

The songs that make men sob

REM's "Everybody Hurts" tops the list.

Top 10 that make men sob

1. Everybody Hurts - REM
2. Tears in Heaven - Eric Clapton
3. Hallelujah - Leonard Cohen
4. Nothing Compares 2 U - Sinead O'Connor
5. With or Without You - U2
6. Drugs Don't Work - The Verve
7. Candle In The Wind - Elton John
8. Streets of Philadelphia - Bruce Springsteen
9. Unchained Melody - Todd Duncan
10. Angels - Robbie Williams

REM's "Everybody Hurts" is the song most likely to make men cry, according to a new poll.

The teary ballad sung by Michael Stipe and used as a Haiti earthquake charity single earlier this year became the UK's fastest-selling charity record of the 21st century.

Eric Clapton's 1992 ballad "Tears in Heaven" -- written by the devastated star following the death of his four-year-old son Conor -- landed the second spot in the survey of more than 1,700 people conducted by royalty collection society PRS for Music.

Leonard Cohen's classic ballad "Hallelujah" completed the top three.

"From this chart, it is clear that a well-written tear-jerker is one that people can relate to and empathise with," the Sun quoted Chairman Ellis Rich as saying.

"It is this lyrical connection that can reach deep down emotionally and move even the strongest of men," Rich added.
