Thaksin to increase activities ahead of Thai polls

AFP, Bangkok

Thailand's fugitive former prime minister Thaksin Shinawatra is preparing to step up his political activities from exile ahead of elections next year, the opposition said yes-

In a video link to a meeting of the Puea Thai Party on Wednesday, the former billionaire telecoms tycoon offered his assistance in the poll battle, said spokesman Prompong Nopparit.

"He said he is ready to give advice about economic problems, advice to candidates during campaigns and advice about party policies," Prompong said.

By law Prime Minister Abhisit Vejjajiva must hold an election by the end of 2011.

Thaksin, who lives abroad to avoid a jail term for corruption, drew wide support from Thailand's rural poor during office but was deposed by a military coup in 2006 and faces allegations of corruption and abuse of power.

The 61-year-old lives in selfimposed exile but he still has many supporters, particularly within the "Red Shirt" opposition movement, which was behind mass street protests in Bangkok in April and May. Thai courts have issued a series of arrest warrants for Thaksin on charges including terrorism -- an accusation linked to the violent street rallies. The authorities have accused him of bankrolling the protests and inciting unrest. Thaksin, a former owner of English football club Manchester City, has said the terrorism charges against him are "politically motivated".

Experts say the tycoonturned-premier, who was a flamboyant but divisive leader, has not given up his political ambitions and continues to play an important role within the opposition behind the

Meanwhile, the party will stage demonstrations and bring out processions in the capital tomorrow protesting "undemocratic" and "autocratic" activities of the Awami League-led grand alliance government.

Delwar announced this programme yesterday while addressing a condolence meeting in the city, organised by BNP for the victims of the recent Sirajganj tragedy. Earlier, a joint meeting of the leaders of BNP and its front and associate bodies was held the party central office at

At the closed-door meeting, a number of leaders including former state minister Ruhul Kuddus Talukder Dulu and Jatiyatabadi Chhatra Dal President Sultan Salahuddin Tuku demanded formation of Dhaka city unit committee of BNP before the announcement of a tougher agitation programme, meeting sources said seeking anonymity.

Issues like Khaleda's residence, Sirajganj incident and killing of BNP leader in Natore came up at the meeting.

Most of the leaders termed the issue of Khaleda's house a conspiracy by the government, and vowed to foil it. Delwar told the meeting

Dhaka city unit committee will be formed soon, and asked all to get prepared for a continued movement against the government. At the condolence meeting

Many' missing

Director (operations) of Fire Brigade, Major Shahjalal told The Daily Star yesterday that they have no specific information about the number of missing passengers.

Local administration continued the search effort with four boats yesterday, said Savar Upazila Nirbahi Officer (UNO) Rabbi Miah. The boats searched Kamrangirchar, Mohammadpur, Bosila and Amin Bazar areas. Reazul Islam, a garment factory worker, said he was searching the area in a hired boat to find out his missing cousin Mamunur Rashid. He felt that it could have been easier if there were an information centre to help the relatives.

Local people and relatives of the missing passengers alleged that the rescue operation lacked coordination among the fire brigade, army, navy, coast guard and BIWTA teams.

As there was no information centre at the accident site, family members found it very difficult to keep track of the rescue operation and to know whether any of their missing relatives or their bodies was found. Apart from rescuers, representatives from the district and upazila administration, police, Rab and Red Crescent Society were at the accident site. But none of them took any initiative to make a list of the missing persons, claimed some relatives.

Tigers clinch

With this win the Tigers conquered new territory; a series victory against a top-flight, full strength opposition. Shakib and company silenced the cynics who have expressed qualms about the ability of the Tigers with this magnificent performance against the Black Caps who have seen a different Bangladesh in their third visit to the country.

Previously, Bangladesh have won a few matches sparsely against the top opponents but this was the first time they dominated a series from the very first game and now they still retain the chance of a whitewash.

The morning however did not show the day for Bangladesh.

In-form opener Shahriar Nafees returned to the dressing room in the very second ball of the innings after New Zealand skipper Daniel Vettori invited his opponents to bat, and the visitors tightened their grip on the home side reducing them to 44-3.

But Shakib had other plans as the left-hander joined opener Imrul Kayes to repair the early damages. He then got able support from Mahmudullah Riyad (37) and Mushfigur Rahim (13) to take away the visitors' early initiative during his well-composed 113-ball 106 that contained eleven fours and a six. His fifth hundred helped Bangladesh to put up a fighting total of 241 before being bundled out in 48.1 overs. Despite the classy effort conditions, Bangladesh were still twenty runs short of their target due to lack of fire in the finishing overs. They could manage only 40 runs from the last ten overs losing five wickets, but a disciplined bowling effort made sure the total could be defended. And when Shakib's turn two prize scalps of Brendon McCullum, who for successive second occasion was dismissed by the right-arm paceman for 21 runs, and Williamson but the dismissal of Grant Elliot was the turning point of the match as the righthander shared a 70-run sixth wicket stand with Williamson after the visitors were reeling at 80-5.

Elliot (22) tried to paddle against a short length ball from Shakib but top edged high in the air and it was Abdur Razzak who took an excellent running catch which emulated the former Indian captain Kapil Dev's running catch in the 1983 World Cup final against West Indies. Threat then came from Nathan McCullum (33) but fortune favoured the brave as a brilliant throw from the deep from substitute Naeem Islam hit the stumps directly to beat McCullum's effort. His dismissal also effectively killed the hopes of New Zealand to snatch victory from the Tigers. Shakib took the ball in the very crucial 49th over when New Zealand needed 24 runs from the last two overs and McCullum silenced the partisan crowd by hitting a boundary in the very first ball. He then managed two runs from the very next delivery but Naeem broke the hearts by sending back McCullum and in the third delivery Daryl

Tuffey was dismissed by Shakib which all but confirmed the Tigers' victory. But requiring 16 runs from last six balls with one wicket in hand, Williamson, who batted with a runner from the middle of his innings, started brilliantly taking two runs from the first delivery of Shafiul and then hitting a boundary in the next ball. But in the third ball it was time for Shafiul to jump came to show something with high and bring a smile on the the leather, the left-arm spinfaces of the million cricket ner did exactly what his team required to win the match as lovers in the country.
