AL govt innovated stalking: Mosharraf

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

BNP Standing Committee Member Khandoker Mosharraf Hossain yesterday said stalking is an innovation of the Awami League government.
"People like Mizanur Rashid and Chanpa Rani Bhowmik were killed by stalkers. Things like these had happened never before," he said.
Mosharraf was addressing a roundtable organised by Nagarik Forum on "Politics of vengeance, violent streets and future of democracy" at the National Press Club in the city.
It cannot be argued that Awami League is meant by politics of vengeance, said the BNP leader, referring to the Sirajganj train crash that killed six people.
"I was present at the public meeting when it happened," he said, "Our men had banners and posters in their hands. So where did the flammable substances come from, used to set the train ablaze?"
It is obvious that another party was present there to foil the meeting, he said.
"Awami League is making streets violent. They are trying to erase the name of Ziaur Rahman, even refusing to recognise him as a freedom fighter."

Train women to build developed society Speakers tell workshop

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Speakers at a workshop yesterday stressed the need for training women at grassroots and middle-income to create awareness on their potentiality to build a developed society.
They said, "Though women from the grassroots work hard to develop their economic condition, they can not achieve their goals due to absence of proper training."
"On the other hand, social stigma does not let the women of middle-income to contribute in social and economic development. A fruitful training could help them develop their skills."
They were addressing the workshop on curriculum development for women, organised by Bangladesh Alliance for Women Leadership (BDWL) at a hotel in the city.
A total of four groups consisting of people from different non-government organisations and educational institutions presented their views at the workshop.
Prof Ishrat Sharmin, Department of Sociology of Dhaka University, laid emphasis on developing the skills of the elected and prospective lawmakers of the country.
"The women MPs are not the ornaments of the parliament. They could play a vital role for the country if they were given proper training," she said adding that bureaucrats could be included in the training programme.
Nasim Firdaus, executive director of BDWL, moderated the workshop.

Quickly clear pre-05 cases: Chief justice

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Chief Justice ABM Khairul Haque yesterday instructed the judicial magistrates to dispose of all the cases filed before 2005 through holding quick hearings on priority basis.
The instructions came at a conference at the Judges Lounge of the Supreme Court where the chief justice met 75 senior judicial magistrates from across the country.
Around 16 lakh cases are now pending with the lower courts across the country, SC Registrar Ashraful Islam told The Daily Star.
Ashraful, who was present at the function, said the chief justice requested the lower court judges to discharge their duties with diligence and professional ethics for consolidating rule of law and justice.

The chief justice asked the magistrates to record the statements of witnesses without any unnecessary delay for quick disposal of the cases.
He also advised them to inform the higher authorities if police don't submit enquiry reports to the courts in time.
The SC registrar said the judges talked about different issues including shortage of judges, courtrooms and manpower.
In response, the chief justice assured them that the SC will take every possible step to solve their problems.
The meeting was part of a series of conferences that the chief justice has been holding with the lower court judges on Friday and Saturday every week.
