

Asia markets mixed

AFP, Hong Kong
Asian stock markets were mixed on Thursday as Shanghai revived after China's rate hike put the region on edge, while oil prices again rose due to worries about Egypt.

The Shanghai Composite Index ended the session up 1.59 percent, or 455.41 points, at 2,818.16, led by a surge among car makers after they reported strong January sales.

Sydney's S&P/ASX 200 ended up 0.19 percent, or 9.6 points, at 4,914.4, following upbeat employment data and ahead of results from miner Rio Tinto.

However Hong Kong's Hang Seng fell 1.97 percent, or 455.41 points, at 22,708.62. The index has lost five percent this week.

Tokyo's Nikkei closed 0.11 percent, or 12.18 points, lower at 10,605.65 as Japanese traders went into consolidation mode before a public holiday and after a weak lead from Wall Street.

In Tokyo Toyota stood out, with the car giant's shares surging after it revised its full-year earnings outlook upwards, the US government found no fault with electronic systems blamed for acceleration problems, and reports emerged of a planned joint venture in Russia's Far East.

China's latest move to rein in inflation with an interest rate hike on Tuesday continued to worry Hong Kong, as US Federal Reserve chief Ben Bernanke made rare criticism of the Beijing central bank's anti-inflationary strategy.

The Dow rose just 0.06 percent, the broader S&P 500 index fell 0.28 percent, while the tech-rich

Nasdaq dropped 0.29 percent.

Oil prices were higher on persistent concerns over the crisis in Egypt, where the embattled government has warned of a military crackdown against protesters.

New York's main futures contract, light sweet crude for March, climbed 32 cents to $87.03 a barrel in afternoon trade.

Brent North Sea crude for delivery in March was up 27 cents at $102.09 a barrel on the Intercontinental Exchange (ICE) in London.

On foreign exchange markets, the dollar strengthened to 82.52 yen in Tokyo compared with 82.35 yen in New York late Wednesday.

The euro fetched $1.3698, down from $1.3727 in New York, and was flat at 113.03.

Gold ended at $1,360.50-$1,361.50 an ounce in Hong Kong, down from Wednesday's close of $1,364.00-$1,365.00.

In other markets:

Singapore tumbled 1.50 percent, or 47.17 points, to close at 3,103.39.

Singapore Telecom fell 1.3 percent to Sg$3.05, after reporting marginally higher third quarter earnings.

Seoul ended 1.81 percent, or 37.08 points, off at 2,008.50. Kuala Lumpur closed down 2.09 percent, or 32.08 points, at 1,503.99. Bangkok fell 2.14 percent or 20.80 points to 949.09.

Mumbai ended 0.74 percent, or 129.72 points, lower at 17,463.04.

Shares in companies belonging to the Reliance Anil Dhirubhai Ambani Group rebounded after taking a hammering on Wednesday on rumours that India's top accounting body was looking into its financial affairs.

Md Abdul Motaleb Miah, assistant vice president of Dhaka Bank Training Institute (DBTI), poses with the participants of a 15-day training programme on foundation training for bankers arranged by DBTI in Dhaka recently.

Ilias Kanchan, director of Walton, inaugurates the company's showroom Walton Plaza in Faridpur recently.
