

ALL THAT MATTERS: (TOP) The TSC junction in Dhaka University is completely packed with cricket-lovers as they watch the World Cup opener on a giant screen; (below, clockwise from top left) an Australian tourist gets into the spirit of the occasion as he rides a bicycle to the venue; two of the very few Indian supporters cheer on their team; a young boy with his face painted like a tiger roars in anticipation; the stands are replete with colour and joy, exemplified by the man wearing the shiny green mask; the passion for the game could not stop this amputee from turning up to support his country; ladies in green cheer on their team; another rare specimen, an Indian fan lets his allegiance be known; Bangladeshi fans at TSC are frustrated by the events of the match; (at the centre of this clock) a family crosses the foot-overbridge at Mirpur 10 as two army personnel look on.
