WONDERS OF THE WORLD :

Wonders of the World are lists compiled over the ages that catalogue remarkable and spectacular natural and man made constructions. The Seven Wonders of the Ancient World is the first known list of the most spectacular creations of classical antiquity, and was based on guide-books and it only includes works located around the Mediterranean rim. The number seven was chosen because it was believed by the Greeks to be the representation of perfection and plenty. The Greeks used the word "theamata," which translates to "things to be seen" or "must-sees." (Efta thaumata to u kosmou=Seven miracles of the world)

The seven ancient wonders included the Great Pyramid of Giza, Hanging Gardens of Babylon, Statue of Zeus at Olympia, Temple of Artemis at Ephesus, Mausoleum of Mausollos at Halicarnassus, Colossus of Rhodes, Lighthouse of Alexandria. The earliest lists had the Ishtar Gate as the seventh wonder of the world instead of the Lighthouse of Alexandria. The list known today was listed in the Middle Ages by which time many of the sites were no longer in existence. The only ancient world wonder that still exists today is the Great Pyramid of Giza. Other sites sometimes included on such lists, as in Seven Wonders of the Middle Ages, are Medieval Mind and Architectural Wonders of the Middle Ages like Taj Mahal, Cairo Citadel, Ely Cathedral, Cluny Abbey. Numerous authors and organisations have composed Lists of the Wonders of the World since then. Lists like American Society of Civil Engineers List of Wonders of the Modern World, USA Today's New Seven Wonders, Seven Natural Wonders of the World (compiled by CNN), Seven Wonders of the Underwater World (drawn up by CEDAM International), Seven Wonders of the Industrial World and many other lists (some of them are countrywise) have been made.

In 2001 an initiative was started by the Swiss corporation New7Wonders Foundation to choose the New Seven Wonders of the World from a selection of 200 existing monuments for profit. These sites, finally selected to be the new7wonders of the world from twenty-one finalists, are Great Wall of China, Petra, Christ the Redeemer, Machu Picchu, Chichen Itza, Colosseum, Taj Mahal, Great Pyramid of Giza (honorary candidate). The results were announced on July 7, 2007.
