

THREE MAJOR POWER PROJECTS

Agreements with Summit Power on May 12

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The government and Summit Power will enter final agreements for three major power projects on May 12 after about two weeks' delay, a power ministry source said.

The government had invited Summit to sign the deals for Bibiyana phases 1 and 2 gas fired (341 megawatt each) and Meghnaghat dual fuel 335 MW power projects on April 24. The signing was deferred as the law ministry did not clear the related documents.

Explaining about the delay, an official said while all past private power project agreements had referred to British law for any arbitration between the contractor and the government, the law ministry this time wanted to refer to Bangladeshi arbitration law.

The law ministry had cleared the Bibiyana phase 1 project agreement that refers to the British law as the "last instance" of reference law. But it wanted to include Bangladeshi law in the deals for Bibiyana phase 2 and another gas-fired private power project in Bhola.

The Bhola 225 MW project is being set up by Ranhill-STS joint venture.

The financiers of both these projects did not agree to these deals, saying the bid documents sought British law rather than the Bangladeshi law.

According to them, the donors have promised to fund these projects on the basis of reference to British law.

The matter has been sent to the prime minister for a decision. It would be resolved within this week, sources said.

Another aspect causing the delay has been a last minute disagreement between Summit and Power Development Board (PDB) over the power tariff during simple cycle phase of the Bibiyana combined cycle power plant.

As per the agreement, Summit will have to start the simple cycle unit within 24 months of signing the final agreement. It would complete the combined cycle part within 36 months.

During this period, the private power producer would provide power at a reduced rate under a certain formula. The company initially wanted to modify this formula but later agreed to the proposal prescribed by the government.

Summit initiated the contracts for Bibiyana 1, 2 and Meghnaghat plants back in January.

Stop indiscriminate migration of rural people to city Bapa rally urges govt

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Speakers at a rally yesterday demanded effective decentralisation of all sectors including administration to prevent indiscriminate migration of rural people to the capital.

Huge migration, according to them, makes it difficult to fulfill the basic needs of people living in the city and causes serious traffic congestion.

The speakers demanded introduction of mass transit system in the country and developed railway system to ensure easy transportation of mass people.

Stressing the need for expanding suitable signal system, they also urged the government to take initiatives to specify and control the number of private cars in the capital.

The rally was organised by Bangladesh Paribesh Andolan (Bapa) in front of the Jatiya Press Club in the city, says a press release.

Bapa's former general secretary Mohidul Hoque and joint secretary Alamgir Kabir addressed the programme among others.
