MOVE TO ENSURE QUALITY EDUCATION IN RURAL AREAS

BTV to air class lectures of Dhaka schools from May 22

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

As part of its effort to ensure quality education, the education ministry will broadcast class lectures of some reputed schools of Dhaka city for rural students through Bangladesh Television (BTV) from May 22.

Announcing the initiative at a press briefing at the Secretariat, Education Minister Nurul Islam Nahid yesterday said three classes on English, Mathematics and Chemistry of class-IX of three schools will be aired through BTV on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday every week from 9:10am to 10:00am.

The headmasters, other teachers and managing committees of the schools would make arrangement so that the students can watch the classes from the state-run television at that time, he said.

Initially, the education boards would buy some televisions for some schools, the minister said, urging the managing committees and well-off people of the society to donate televisions to the schools for the sake education.

English class of Viqarunnisa Noon School would be telecast on May 22 while Mathematics class of Government Laboratory School on May 23 and Chemistry class of Rajuk Uttara Model High School on May 24.

Later, broadcast time for next classes would be informed through BTV's announcement and scrolls.

"We have already recorded 12 classes and broadcast of the classes would start from May 22...we want to give the opportunity to all to watch and know classes of best teachers of the country as per the directions of the prime minister," said Nahid.

The minister said there might be some problems in the process initially but they would try to overcome those after getting feedback from teachers.

"This initiative is first of kind in the country and we hope that the students and teachers of remote areas would be able to learn many things from the classes," he said.

Replying to a question, Nahid said most of the schools definitely don't have television sets. "Apart from the donation of well-off people, the managing committees would make arrangement to buy televisions for the sake of educating students."

Education Secretary Dr Kamal Abdul Naser Chowdhury said this is a test basis programme and hopefully it would encourage not only students but teachers as well.

Kazi Abu Jafar Siddique, director general of BTV, said classes of entire curriculum would be broadcast part by part.

'Specify women's role in local govt institutions'

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Elected women representatives suggested specifying and expanding their role in local government institutions for their political empowerment.

Responsibilities of the women vice chairmen of upazila parishads in education, health, and women affairs or in other development projects have to be specific, they added.

The recommendations came at a workshop on Saturday on strategies to apply in local government legislation and National Women Development Policy 2011, organised by USAid-aided project "Strengthening Democratic Local Governance" (SDLG) at Brac Centre Inn in the city.

A discussion on the workshop was held yesterday attended by elected women leaders from local government institutions, says a statement of SDLG.

Elected women representatives of local government institutions should be provided with adequate training, while budgets of all local government institutions have to be made gender-sensitive, they recommended. State Minister for Women and Children Affairs Dr Shirin Sharmin Chaudhury said the recommendations would also be incorporated, after scrutiny, to the plan of action to implement Women Development Policy 2011.

USAid Director of Office of Democracy and Governance Alexious Butler, Meher Afroze Chumki, chair of the parliamentary standing committee on Ministry of Women and Children Affairs; SDLG Chief of Party Jerome Sayre; USAid Senior Democracy Adviser Dianne Cullinane; and SDLG Deputy Chief of Party Dr Zarina Rahman Khan also spoke.

Pro-AL, BNP-backed lawyers stage demonstrations on SC premises

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Supreme Court Bar Association (SCBA) President Khandker Mahbub Hossain yesterday said people would not accept outgoing Chief Justice ABM Khairul Haque as head of the next caretaker government.

If Justice Khairul dreams of being the chief adviser of next caretaker government, he is mistaken, as there are a number of allegations against him, he said.

He was presiding over a meeting organised by SCBA, dominated by pro-BNP lawyers, at its South Hall. They were protesting appointment of Justice Md Muzammel Hossain as the new chief justice, passing over his senior Justice Shah Abu Nayeem Mominur Rahman, another Appellate Division judge.

SCBA yesterday hoisted black flags at its premises in protest against this appointment.

Meanwhile, ruling Awami League backed lawyers under the banner Sammilita Ainjibi Samannay Parishad (SASP) yesterday urged pro-BNP lawyers not to observe programmes like hoisting black flags at SCBA, in order to protect the environment and image of Supreme Court.

They made the appeal at a press conference at North Hall of SCBA at the same time.

Barrister M Amir-UI Islam, SASP convener, told the media at the press conference that a vested quarter is creating different issues to create another situation similar to 1/11 in the country.
