Stop commercialisation of water: Green activists

UNB, Dhaka

Water experts and green activists yesterday stressed for a strong mass movement against the proposed Water Bill 2010 to resist the "commercialisation" of water.

They cautioned at a roundtable that people will lose their right to water and social chaos will surface if water sector goes under the control of private hand.

Dr MM Shafiullah, former vice chancellor of Buet, said water is a fundamental right of the people, and the government should not pass any law that violates this right.

"The private companies will never think of public interest. They will try to earn more profit through commercialisation of water," he said.

Dr Shafiullah, who chaired the roundtable on "The proposed Water Bill 2010: The right of people and nature to water", also criticised the proposed law.

He said there is no effective law in the country to punish the water-polluters.

Bangladesh has huge water resources, yet people now are compelled to buy drinking water, said Engr M Enamul Haque, former director general of Bangladesh Water Development Board (BWDB).

He said, "We've a historical right to water that must be protected."

Haque suggested the government elicit public opinion before placing the proposed Water Bill 2010 in parliament, aiming at making the law people-friendly.

Abu Naser Khan, chairman of Paribesh Bachao Andolan (Paba), warned that if the government leaves water to private sector, its commercialisation can never be stopped.

He demanded inclusion of people's right to water as a fundamental right in the constitution for the greater interest of the nation.

Shafiuddin Sarkar, former president of Diploma Engineers' Institute, and columnist Syed Abul Moksud also addressed the roundtable organised by Paba at the Jatiya Press Club in the city yesterday.

"In implementing our feed the future and global health initiatives, the United States is aligning our resources with Bangladesh's own strategies, working together with many other partners," he said.

Moriarty said the ICDDR,B's BSL-3 laboratory is a very good example of broad collaboration linking the US Department of Agriculture (USDA), the Centre for Disease Control, the National Institutes of Health, the US Agency for International Development and different organisations of Bangladesh.

Referring to the one million US dollar support provided by the USDA, national Institute of Food and Agriculture and the USDA research service for ICDDR,B's research on vitamin A deficiency, he said USDA works closely with the centre for disease control to monitor and control the spread of infectious animal diseases- a critical part of the work here at ICDDR,B.

Executive Director of ICDDR,B Dr A Cravioto addressed the function. Researchers, officials of ICDDR,B and US embassy officials were also present on the occasion.

A gang of armed robbers looted cash and valuables from the bungalow of Bangladesh Railway's GM in Chittagong early yesterday.

Some 30-35 robbers entered the bungalow of Yusuf Ali Mridha, general manager (GM) of railway (East Zone), behind Central Railway Building after tying up four security guards with trees around 3:30am at gunpoint, said Abul Kalam Azad, OC of Kotwali Police Station.

They cut the grill of the back door and looted laptops, mobile phone sets, and some cash, said sources.

Nine officers used to reside in five rooms while their family lived in Dhaka. Seven officers, including Yusuf, were not present during the robbery.

Contacted, Yusuf who was in Dhaka, said there might be some other reasons behind the robbery.

Yusuf said a recruitment process is going on and many requests were made against the posts. "But as a general manager it is not possible for me to satisfy everyone. Some who are dissatisfied might be involved," he said.

Yusuf said one laptop, one mobile phone set and Tk2,000 were also looted from his room.

SM Liaquat Ali, additional chief engineer

(track), present during the robbery, said he awoke when they started breaking the door of his room (room no 4).

All of a sudden, six people entered the room and looked for Yusuf and asked him for the keys of the almirah at gunpoint, he added.

"As I gave it (the key) to them, they opened the almirah and broke the suitcase kept there," he said adding that the robbers took away cash worth Tk 2 lakh, one camera, two Nokia N70 mobile phone sets.

Liaquat said they tied him up and ransacked the room.

The robbers also ransacked two other rooms of the bungalow and took away three laptops, one printer and two cell phone sets.

Chief Accounts Officer of the railway Gaura Chandra Roy, present in his room during the robbery, could not ascertain anything as the robbers did not enter his room, said police.

Police visited the spot in the morning while a CID team also started investigation into the robbery incident. CID Inspector Ibrahim said they collected some evidence, but could not collect any fingerprints.

SI Alamgir Hossain said they are trying to arrest the robbers to recover the valuables and money. "We suspect they are an organised and professional gang," he said.
