OUR CORRESPONDENT,
Mymensingh

Interns at Mymensingh Medical College and Hospital (MMCH) went on an indefinite strike yesterday morning protesting alleged attack on their colleagues by the relatives of a patient on Friday.

Sources said, Divya Joyati Saha, 13, of Baro Bazar area in the district town was admitted to the hospital's ward 14 on June 1 with broncho pneumonia. But the relatives of the patient took him to a paying bed at ward 19 defying the instruction of the on duty doctors. The patient's condition was not well, said Dr Rony Roy, an intern.

At around 5:30 pm, Divya Joyati Saha died of his complications at ward 19.

When two interns went to the ward, the relatives of the patient with the help of outsiders allegedly swooped on them and confined them to a room for around three hours.

Being informed, other interns went to the spot and tried to free their colleagues but the outsiders and patient's relatives assaulted a few interns physically, injuring two at around 9:00 pm, intern sources said.

Injured interns --- Jahangir Alam Sujan and Arif Ahsan Shuvo--- are now undergoing treatment at students' cabin of MMCH.

The interns yesterday afternoon submitted a memorandum to MMCH authorities asking to meet their five-point demand. The demands included tightening of internal security and immediate arrest of attackers.

Dr Anwaruzzaman, assistant director of MMCH said a six-member probe body headed by Dr Shafiuddin Ahmed will probe the incident.

He said Goutam Saha, father of the patient yesterday lodged a complaint with the MMCH authorities accusing a few doctors of not taking proper care of his son.

Secretary of Bangladesh Medical Association (BMA) Mymensingh unit Dr Motiur Rahman Bhuiyan said, to ensure better service, the interns need strict security. As they handle most cases they often fall victim to this type of situation whenever a patient dies at the hospital.

'No' to brick kiln on cropland

OUR CORRESPONDENT,
Manikganj

Hundreds of farmers of Solondi village in Manikganj Sadar upazila formed a human chain on their cropland on Friday in protest against the plan to set up a brickfield there.

"We started a farming project on 250 bighas of land 30 years ago and the farmers of the village depend on the paddy produced from here," said farmer Nazrul Islam Nannu, also president of Solondi Deep Tubewell Samity.

But Kamrul Hasan Selim, proprietor of Diana Brickfield, and his brother Abdus Salam of the village are trying to buy or grab the lands to make a brickfield here, he said.

"Earlier around 100 bighas of land from our project area was taken to set up a brickfield in the adjacent area. The farmers will face a tough situation if another brickfield is built," Siddiquir Rahman, a shareholder of the project, said.

"If the brickfield is built, it will mean end to the large farming scheme," said Shamsuddin Ahmed, manager of the project.

"We will give life but not our paddy lands," said Abdul Jalil, owner of two bighas of land in the village.

When contacted, Selim, one of the initiators of the brickfield, however said they will not set up the brickfield if the farmers do not want.

Asked about the matter, Mohammad Mokbul Hossain, deputy director of the Department of Environment in Manikganj, said, "I was not aware of the initiative to set up a brickfield on farmland. Such an act goes against environmental laws. I will see the matter."
