PM firm on e-voting in next parliament polls

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina yesterday reiterated her firm determination to introduce electronic voting system and strengthen the Election Commission in a bid to hold the next parliamentary elections in a free, fair and credible manner.

"Electronic voting system will be introduced to ensure one person one vote," she said while addressing a discussion at Bangabandhu International Conference Centre in the capital.

E-voting system is in operation in South Asia except Bangladesh and Pakistan, the premier added.

On the much-talked-about caretaker government system, she said lawmakers can't make it legal when the Supreme Court declared it illegal.

Ruling Awami League organised the discussion marking the Six Point day with party presidium member Syeda Sajeda Chowdhury in the chair.

Hasina also asked her political arch-rival BNP Chairperson Khaleda Zia why she is so crazy about caretaker system. She reminded Khaleda that the last caretaker chief Fakhruddin Ahmed, president Iajuddin Ahmed and the then army chief Gen Moeen U Ahmed were close to her, but she had to go to prison and her sons had to leave the country after being beaten up.

"Did you [Khaleda] forget what happened after 1/11? Iajuddin, Fakhruddin and Moeen Uddin were your men, not ours. Even after that you were put in jail," Hasina said.

The premier added the leader of the opposition does not accept anything including the highest court's verdict.

"She only aspires for power so that she could continue her earlier habit of resorting to corruption," Hasina added.

Referring to the by-polls, city corporation, municipality and Union Parishad elections held under her government, Hasina said those elections were held in a free and fair manner. She added AL does not aspire for grabbing power under any circumstances.

"We have trust on people and they will vote anyone to power whom they [people] choose."

AL General Secretary Syed Ashrafur Islam urged BNP to return to parliament for a dialogue on the caretaker government system.

AL leaders Amir Hossain Amu, Abdur Razzaq, Matia Chowdhury, Sheikh Fazlul Karim Selim, Abdul Latif Siddiqui, Mahabubul Alam Hanif, among others, also spoke.

FEAR OF THREATS

Traders switch off cell, land phones

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Many traders in Old Dhaka switched off their cell and land-line phones yesterday fearing threats from the accomplices of 'Dakat Shahid' following the killing of an Ansar member at a CNG filling station in Jatrabari Monday night.

Several businessmen, preferring anonymity, said they normally avoid filing complaint with police over extortion attempts as it goes in vain.

A crime ring, claiming themselves to be the accomplices of listed criminal Dakat Shahid, attacked the staff of City Overseas Filling Station. It left 24-year-old Saidur Rahman dead.

Primary investigations have revealed Dakat Shahid's gang is involved in the murder, said Mazharul Islam, operation officer of Jatrabari Police Station.

The law enforcers would also interrogate some employees of the business, he mentioned adding, they would also try to dig out whether any of the six owners of the business is involved in the offence.

Members of Rapid Action Battalion-10 detained a youth yesterday in connection with the incident, according to Azharul Islam Dhali, one of the owners of the CNG refuelling station.

He also claimed criminals killed Saidur as they failed to extort money from the owners.

Azad blames officials' negative mindset

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Information Minister Abul Kalam Azad yesterday said negative mindset of the officials regarding making information available by their own initiative is a major challenge in implementing the right to information (RTI) act.

People's unawareness about their basic rights, poverty and no access to internet, lack of trained manpower and system for preserving information digitally and on the web at the government and non-government organisations are also the major setbacks to ensure RTI act and its use to the public, the minister said in parliament replying to lawmakers query.

He said as mass awareness at grassroots level has not been increased, it is a major challenge for the government to implement the RTI act properly.

The use of RTI has been in primary stage, Azad said adding that the government would consider amendment in it in the future after reviewing its effectiveness and consequences.

Replying to another query, Azad said the mass media must act in a responsible way since it create bridge between people and the government. The mass media can protect its accountability by publishing positive news and doing constructive criticism to the government.
