Faulty work blamed for wall collapse

4 engineers suspended; death toll in Ctg landslide rises to 17
DWAIPAYAN BARUA, Chittagong

Faulty construction and lack of maintenance of the wall built by the Chittagong City Corporation to protect the Batali hill caused Friday's tragic death of 17 people living in the foothill shanties.

"Just by looking at the wall, we can easily find some faults in its construction," said Ehsane Elahi, convener of the five-member probe committee formed by the district administration.

There should have been strong angular concrete walls to protect the outer portion of the main protection wall but there has been nothing like that, said Elahi, also the additional deputy commissioner of Chittagong.

Another risky settlement in the valley of Motijharna in Lalkhan Bazar in Chittagong. The landslide in Batali hill happened not far from here. This valley is no stranger to landslides. After each disaster in almost every year or two, victims resettle here as rehabilitation is something they have heard of, not experienced.

TODAY'S HARTAL No BNP backing

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

BNP has not lent support to today's half-day hartal as it is still in the dark about the content of the gas exploration deal with American energy company ConocoPhillips.

Acting Secretary General of BNP Mirza Fakhru Islam Alamgir told this at a press briefing at the party's central office in Nayapaltan yesterday.

Fakhru however said BNP does not support any agreement that compromises country's interest.

Meanwhile, unidentified criminals set two buses afire in the city's East Shewrapara and Kalyanpur areas last
