

Tk 33.56 crore deal signed with UNDP

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

A Tk 33.56 crore agreement to address some key concerns of development partners and policymakers on aid management was signed between Bangladesh and United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) yesterday.

The agreement over the project titled "Strengthening Capacity for Aid Effectiveness in Bangladesh" would be implemented by Economic Relations Division (ERD) over the next four years from September 2011 to June 2015.

ERD Secretary M Musharraf Hossain Bhuiyan, on behalf of the government, and UNDP Country Director Stefan Priesner inked the agreement at ERD in the city's Sher-e-Bangla Nagar.

UNDP signed the agreement on behalf of 18 development organisations including DFID and DANIDA, who already committed to fund the project. Several other development partners expressed their firm interest to join the project.

Development aid constitutes around 50 percent of the Annual Development Plan of Bangladesh, said UNDP Assistant Country Director KAM Morshed while speaking at the programme.

A recent ERD study titled "Aid Management in Bangladesh: A review of policies and procedures" identified several areas of improvement in the way aid is managed and utilised in the country.

"The unique nature of the project is the effort to materialise a joint commitment made by 18 development partners of Bangladesh," said Stefan.

DFID Country Representative Gwen Hines said, "This is an important step towards maximising the impact of development aid provided to Bangladesh and enhancing transparency to see what is being done and what results are delivered."

election on November 7, 2010, she hoped that Myanmar would be able to establish a democratic government soon as per its constitution and in line with the promised roadmap to democracy.

Land boundary agreement not 'surrender' to Bangladesh, says Assam govt

PALLAB BHATTACHARYA, New Delhi

Rejecting the opposition charge that the land boundary agreement and exchange of enclaves with Bangladesh were "surrender", the government of India's North Eastern state of Assam yesterday said the deal will help solve the long-standing border dispute between the two countries and insurgency problem.

"The land deal will be beneficial as several acres of land under Bangladesh will come to Assam and the border dispute will be solved," government spokesman and Accord

Implementation Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma told reporters in Guwahati.

As long as the boundary was not demarcated, fencing could not be erected and the open border helped infiltration from outside. Now with proper demarcation of the boundary, border fencing work will be completed, which will not only stop infiltration but help check trans-border crime, Sarma said.

The major opposition parties in Assam include Bharatiya Janata Party, Asom Gana Parishad, student bodies Assam Students Union and Asom Yuva Chakra Parishad and the popular peasant body Krishak Mukti Sangram Parishad.

The parties opposed the land deal signed recently during the visit of Prime Minister Manmohan Singh to Bangladesh, claiming that several acres of Indian territory were surrendered to a foreign country.

Coming down heavily on the erstwhile Prafulla Mahanta-led Asom Gana Parishad government in Assam, the senior minister alleged that the state "surrendered" huge areas of land to Bangladesh at that time.

"But it is to the credit of the Tarun Gogoi-led Congress government that those areas have been brought back.

"India has not surrendered land to Bangladesh (as alleged by the political parties) and in fact it has regained its own territory which will in the long run help solve the border problem," Sarma said.

Referring to the recent protests by the opposition parties and the student bodies, Sarma alleged that these were intended to destabilise the government.

WikiLeaks reports 'fairy tales'

Says Fakhrul

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

BNP acting Secretary General Mirza Fakhrul Islam Alamgir has termed the cables leaked by whistleblower website WikiLeaks "fairy tales".

"WikiLeaks reports are being published (in newspapers) for the last few days. We don't know what WikiLeaks is and from where it has come. Its reports are nothing but fairy tales," he said while addressing a student rally yesterday in front of the party's central office at Nayapaltan in the capital.

He said propaganda has been started against BNP in the name of WikiLeaks reports when the party started to turn around. Every day reports are being published against political leaders.

Jatiyatabadi Chhatra Dal (JCD), pro-BNP student body, organised the rally demanding withdrawal of all cases filed against Khaleda Zia. It was held to mark the 3rd anniversary of her release from jail.

The BNP chairperson was arrested on September 3, 2007 and released on bail on September 11, 2008.

A number of reports published in different newspapers in the last few days are based on the cables leaked by WikiLeaks and concern political leaders including Khaleda Zia and her son Tarique Rahman.

Mirza Fakhrul alleged that a vested quarter is conspiring against BNP. "The ruling Awami League has become politically bankrupt and that is why it is now hatching conspiracy to split BNP," he said.

On Padma bridge, he said construction of it is being delayed due to corruption which is now under investigation by the Canadian government.

Other speakers included BNP leaders Shamsuzzaman Dudu, Amanullah Aman, Nazimuddin Alam and Shirin Sultana. JCD President Sultan Salauddin Tuku was in the chair.

Turkey suspends military agreements, downgrades mission in Israel

DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENT

Turkey has downgraded its mission in Israel and suspended military agreements effective from yesterday as Israel failed to realise its charter of demands, including seeking apology for killing Turkish people.

Israel troops attacked and killed nine people, including eight Turkish, in the international waters of the Mediterranean on May 31 in 2010, against an international aid convoy in which hundreds of passengers from 32 countries participated to bring humanitarian aid to Gaza following Israel blockade.

"We have diplomatic relations with Israel since 1949, but now we have downgraded to the second secretary level," said Turkish Ambassador in Dhaka Vakur Erkul at a press briefing at his embassy office at Baridhara in the city yesterday.

He said all personnel starting from ambassador to officials above second secretary level will come back to Turkey by yesterday. Israel has also been asked to withdraw its ambassador and officials above second secretary level within next three days, he added.

Vakur Erkul said Turkey took up the issue in UN and all other international communities for condemning the Israeli attack on unarmed civilian.

He said Turkey will take whatever measures it deems necessary to ensure freedom of navigation in the Eastern Mediterranean.

The ambassador said Israel should first seek apology for killing the innocent civilians and give adequate compensation to the deceased and also to those who were injured in the attack.

Israel will also have to abide by the 1967 boundary demarcation, withdraw blockade in Gaza and recognise East Jerusalem as the capital of Palestine State, the ambassador said, adding "Our relations with Israel will not be normalised until those conditions are met."

Criticising Israel government for not realising the situation, he said it is clear that the current Israel regime is incapable of seeing this simple reality and comprehending the consequence of huge changes taking place in the Middle East.

"Our aim is not to harm the historic Turkish-Jewish friendship, on the contrary, we aim to encourage the Israel government to correct this mistake that does not benefit this exceptional friendship," he added.
