

Teacher attacked for protesting stalking of girls

STAFF CORRESPONDENT, Bogra

Local Jubo League activists allegedly assaulted a school-teacher for protesting stalking of schoolgirls in Dhanut upazila in Bogra district.

The victim, Md Mozaffor Rahman, confirmed the incident saying that he requested them not to taunt the girls at a cultural function at Alangi High School premises on Monday evening.

The local Awami League (AL) arranged the function to celebrate the nation's Victory Day.

Mozaffor, who also claimed to be AL's secretary of Alangi union unit, lodged a case with Dhanut Police Station against five Jubo League activists including Abdul Mannan, Ashish and Shahidul.

Confirming the complaint, Officer-in-Charge of Dhanut Police Station Tazammal Haque told this correspondent that the activists attacked Mozaffor with bamboo sticks.

According to the complaint, the activists took seats, close to the seats for women, in front of the stage at the function and disturbed the girls by using slang words.

Following an altercation at the function, the activists attacked the school teacher in front of a tea stall after the programme.

Despite being called several times over cell phone, the alleged assailants could not be contacted.

Police said necessary action will be taken immediately.

Second train-hit death in 10 days

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Dinajpur

Just 10 days into a similar tragedy, a man died in Joypurhat Railway Station on Tuesday as he failed to notice a train coming from behind as he was crossing the tracks while talking on a cellphone.

The victim Faridul Islam Farid, 37, son of Mamatazur Rahman of Palikadoa village of Joypurhat sadar upazila, sustained severe head injury when the train hit him before Sweeper Colony around 2:00pm, said witnesses.

The locals rushed him to Joypurhat Modern Hospital where he succumbed to his injuries later that night.

On December 10, Amena Begum, 24, studying political science at honours level at Joypurhat Government College, died in the same manner at the station.

Amena is the daughter of Ahmedul Haque of Gobarchapa village under Badalgachhi upazila of Naogaon district.

Stationmaster Md Abdul Halim said they have to take emergency initiatives to stop people from using cellphones while crossing the tracks.

Nationalisation of pry teachers' jobs demanded

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

National Non-Government Primary Teachers' Oikya Parishad will stage a sit-in at capital's Central Shaheed Minar today to press home their demand to nationalise jobs of non-governmental primary school teachers.

Leaders of the parishad, a platform comprising of four organisations of non-governmental primary teachers, yesterday held a rally at the Shaheed Minar and submitted a memorandum to the Prime Minister's Office (PMO).

Around 100 teachers from different districts joined the rally where speakers said despite assurances, no government has met their demand.

The government announced nationalisation of their jobs in its election manifesto but did not implement it so far, they said.

The police, however, intercepted their procession at Shahbagh intersection. Later, a four-member delegation submitted the memorandum to the PMO.

At Shahbagh, the parishad President Mohammad Shamsul Alam said, "We will continue our movement until the government meets our demand."

"We will observe a sit-in tomorrow [today] to press home our demand," he added.

Meanwhile, teachers deprived of government's Monthly Payment Order (PMO) staged a sit-in yesterday in front of Jatiya Press Club demanding the prime minister's interference to incorporate them into government payroll.

The government enlisted teachers and employees of 1,662 educational institutes for MPO but 1,441 more teachers of different subjects, who have been teaching for long, are deprived of the facility.

Passengers stranded at Gabtoli Bus Terminal in the city yesterday as dense fog disrupted ferry movement at Aricha Ghat, causing delay in the arrival of buses.
