Stocks fall continues

Key DSE index down to 2-year low; small investors block traffic

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

A continuous slide in share prices yesterday pulled the key index of the Dhaka bourse down to a two-year low.

The General Index of Dhaka Stock Exchange (DSE) came down to 4,638 points after shedding 71 points at the close of yesterday's trade. The benchmark index was 4,643 points on January 4, 2010.

Bangladesh Share Investors' Association (BSIA), a platform of retail investors, called a daylong shutdown for today in Motijheel demanding stability in the stockmarket, but later they backtracked on the decision.

"We decided to call off the hartal following assurances from police that our detained leaders would be released if the strike was withdrawn," Shahadatullah Firoz, organising secretary of BSIA, told The Daily Star.

Earlier, police had picked up eight small investors, including the BSIA president, from Motijheel on charges of blocking roads and vandalising vehicles.

BUS TERMINAL CLOSURE Workers retaliate after union leader disappears

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Transport workers last night halted operations in all inter-district bus terminals in the city for around four hours after one of their union leaders temporarily disappeared.

No buses were allowed to leave the terminals from 6:00pm, causing sufferings to passengers.

Selim Chowdhury, organising secretary of Fulbaria Bus Terminal Workers' Union, went missing from Old Dhaka on Sunday.

He was on his way to Fulbaria Bus Terminal on a rickshaw around 10:00am, when some people abducted him and put him in a vehicle with a Rab sign on it, said Khandaker Enayetullah, general secretary of Dhaka Road Transport Owners' Association, quoting transport workers.

EU bans Iranian oil

Tehran responds with threats

REUTERS, Brussels/tehran

The European Union banned imports of oil from Iran on Monday and imposed a number of other economic sanctions, joining the United States in a new round of measures aimed at deflecting Tehran's nuclear development program.

In Iran, one politician responded by renewing a threat to blockade the Strait of Hormuz, an oil exporting route vital to the global economy, and another said Tehran should cut off oil to the EU immediately.

That might hurt Greece, Italy and other ailing economies which depend heavily on Iranian crude and, as a result, won as part of the EU agreement a grace period until July 1 before the embargo takes full effect.

A day after a U.S. aircraft carrier, accompanied by a flotilla that included French and British warships, made a symbolically loaded voyage into the Gulf in defiance of Iranian hostility, the widely expected EU sanctions move was likely to set off further bellicose rhetoric in an already tense region.

Some analysts say Iran, which denies accusations that it seeking nuclear weapons, could be in a position to make them next year. So, with Israel warning it could use force to prevent that happening, the row over Tehran's plans is an increasingly pressing challenge for world leaders, not

EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS

Govt failed to probe

Says rights body HRW

STAR REPORT

The Bangladesh government has taken no significant steps to investigate and prosecute torture in custody and extra-judicial killings during 2011 and has shown an increasing intolerance for criticism, says Human Rights Watch.

The government also missed the chance to ensure trials that meet international standards for the country's independence-era atrocities, the New York-based rights watchdog said in its World Report 2012.

The 676-page report said HRW had found that there was a sharp increase in enforced disappearances, though
