The Daily Star proudly joins hands with UNICEF to publish a monthly two-page special on Promoting Child Rights. The publication is a dedicated platform for child rights concerns in Bangladesh. It aims to identify and bring attention to the issues facing the children of Bangladesh, which includes their protection, health and education.

Our children face a variety of difficulties everyday hindering their growth and development, through abuses of their rights. Upholding children's rights is a steppingstone to our development as a nation.
