POLLS LIKELY IN MAY

Population disparity in DCC wards

It's an obstacle to proper resource distribution, say local govt experts

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Polls to the split Dhaka City Corporation are set for May amid huge population disparities among the wards in the two corporations -- DCC North and DCC South.

The government's indifference to redrawing the boundaries of the 92 wards of the two DCCs has given rise to the controversy, local government experts say. They fear it might create obstacle to proper distribution of resources, which is a prerequisite for ensuring better services.

The local government and rural development (LGRD) ministry, which is empowered to demarcate the boundaries, has no plan to do the job before the upcoming polls, a senior official of the ministry told The Daily Star.

Power outage plagues Ctg

Businesses, industries hit hard

PRABIR BARUA CHOWDHURY, Ctg

Chittagong district has been experiencing power outages up to six hours a day since early March.

Although summer is just beginning, the district is now facing a power shortfall of about 80 megawatt (MW), leading to power cuts six to eight times a day. The shortfall was 150 MW till Tuesday.

Sources at Power Development Board (PDB) in Chittagong Zone said suspension of power generation in three state-run power stations is the main cause of the shortage.

Raozan Power Station, and Shikalbaha 60 MW Power Plant have been shut for about five months for lack of gas supply, and Shikalbaha 150 MW Peaking Power Plant was shut till Tuesday since late November last year due to the same reason, said Md Moniruzzaman, public relations officer of PDB.

The three state-run power plants could generate 600 MW power on an average in a day.

Shikalbaha 150 MW Peaking Power Plant however resumed power generation of 70 MW on Tuesday as it got gas supply from Karnaphuli Gas Distribution Company Ltd (KGDC), PDB sources said.

Moniruzzaman said as the power station resumed generation, it will help reduce the gap between demand and supply, but that is still insufficient. He said average demand of the zone in peak hour is about 700 MW while Chittagong district alone demands 550 MW daily. The zone comprises Chittagong district, Cox's Bazar, and three hill tract districts.

A high official of KGDC, on condition of anonymity, said they are not supplying gas to the out of operation power plants according to a decision of the government.

The total supply for Chittagong district is now about 470 MW that comes from the national grid and different local power plants, said Moniruzzaman.

Md Raisuddin Sarker, chief engineer at PDB, said they are being forced to manage power distribution through load shedding as sufficient power is not being generated.

He said they formed a load management body including representatives from the local administration.

The body will try to find out the actual demand for power in different areas, and will try to ensure equal distribution of electricity through load shedding, he said.

Meanwhile, residents and businesses of Chittagong district are suffering immensely from the shortage of power.

DHAKA-CHITTAGONG

Part of 4-lane highway to be ready by June

M ABUL KALAM AZAD

The communications ministry is pushing hard to speed up the upgrade of Dhaka-Chittagong highway and complete at least part of the work by June.

The upgrade of 192-kilometre two-lane highway from Daudkandi to Chittagong into a four-lane one has remained stalled for about two years due to inept consultancy, frequent change of project director and intervention in land-filling work by some ruling party men, according to ministry sources.

Taking the helm at the ministry in December last year, Obaidul Quader has had meetings with the concessionaires and also has been paying regular visits to the project sites to monitor the progress of work.

In a recent meeting with them, the minister has set a June 30 deadline to complete the upgrade of 25-km part between Comilla and Feni districts.

Ministry officials are hopeful another 57-km of the widened highway would be ready by December.

"The minister is under pressure to perform. He is desperate to have at least a part of the upgraded highway opened by the prime minister at the earliest," noted a senior official at the communications ministry.

Roads and Highways Department sources said expansion of the Dhaka-Chittagong highway, known as the country's economic lifeline, was essential as the road

On this day in 1971, the Awami League leadership stayed busy all morning working out the finer details of the economy-related issues of a proposed governmental structure for Pakistan. The Awami League still believed that a constitutional way out for a transfer of power from the junta to the elected representatives of the people was possible. What was, however, unknown was that the military regime was giving the finishing touches to the operation it had decided to launch against the Bangalees.

Rumours abounded about impending army action and yet there was too the confidence among the population that the junta could not but agree to the
