

Ruling party men wolf down profits of melon farmers

OUR CORRESPONDENT,
Patuakhali

Random extortion by the ruling party men has appeared as a matter of concern for watermelon farmers in Rangabali upazila under the district during the plucking period of the popular summer fruit.

Besides, some influential people are drawing saline water to their fish enclosures through sluice gates, causing inundation of watermelon fields with saline water.

Demanding steps to save them from extortion and harassment by the men belonging to the ruling Awami League (AL) and its associate body Jubo League, local farmers held a rally and brought out a procession at Taktabunia Bazar in the upazila yesterday.

Jubo League leaders demand Tk 2 per watermelon when farmers pluck in their fields and they have to pay Tk 3 more for each watermelon when they load it on trawlers at Purba Bahelchar Sluice Ghat and Bahelcahr Ghat, local farmers said.

A Jubo League man, who is forcing farmers to carry watermelon on his trawler, charges twice the usual fair for the purpose.

"Local Jubo League leaders extort us at three stages, making us bear additional cost of Tk 8 per watermelon to sent it to local market from our field," said Ansar Howlader, a watermelon farmer of Neta village under the upazila.

Badsha Sikder, a watermelon farmer of Purba Bahelchar village plucked around 500 watermelons from his field on Monday but he could not send it to local market till Wednesday for failure to pay the toll demanded by local Jubo

Villagers confine 4 policemen, block road to protest their 'wrongdoing'

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Dinajpur

Aggrieved villagers confined four policemen to Pashchim Baluadanga village in Dinajpur municipality for three hours yesterday as the law enforcers allegedly assaulted female members of a house following their protest against attempt to arrest a man without showing any warrant.

Surprisingly, the four policemen had gone to the spot without the knowledge of the officer in charge (OC) of Dinajpur police station, said OC Md Aslam Iqbal.

Protesting the wrongdoing of policemen, locals also blocked Dinajpur-Bochaganj road for more than three hours.

Four policemen of Dinajpur police station led by sub inspector (SI) Md Jahangir Alam raided the house of Md Mozibur Rahman Mozid, 35, son of Ismail Hossain of Pashchim Baluadanga, at around 11:30am yesterday, locals said.

As the policemen said there was an arrest warrant against Mozid, the residents of the house asked them to show it but without giving any reply, police handcuffed Mozibur.

Mozid's younger sister protested handcuffing him without showing any arrest warrant but the policemen pushed her hard.

When Mozid's wife protested the assault of her sister-in-law, police assaulted her too and demanded bribe for releasing her husband, said the locals.

Hearing scream of Mozid's sister, locals gathered there and confined SI Jahangir Alam and constables Shah Alam, Md Mahub and Chandan of Dinajpur police station to a room.

The aggrieved villagers also blocked Dinajpur-Bochaganj road and burnt tyres at different places of the area.

Hearing the incident, officer in charge (Investigation) Md Anisur Rahman accompanied by a police team rushed to the spot but the villagers declined to free the four policemen.

Later Dinajpur municipality Mayor Md Jahangir Alam went to the spot and assured locals that action would be taken if the four policemen were found guilty.

At around 3:00pm, the villagers releases the four policemen and all the law enforcers left the area immediately.

When contacted, Dinajpur police station OC Md Aslam Iqbal said, "I do not know why the four policemen of this station went to the village. They went there without informing me."

He informed that there are two policemen named Jahangir Alam - one is a sub inspector and the other is an assistant sub inspector, at the police station.

Contacted over phone, both of them denied going to Pashchim Baluadanga village. Despite repeated attempts, this correspondent failed to contact a few high officials of Dinajpur police for their comments on the incident as none of them received phone calls.

Tension is prevailing in the area over the incident.

Women perform dance at the three-day long eleventh CHT indigenous cultural festival that began on the compound of local ethnic cultural institute in Rangamati town yesterday.

"I cultivated watermelon on my four acres of land by taking loan of Tk 1.20 lakh from a local mohajon (moneylender). The yield was well this season but now I am worried about repaying the loan, let alone making profit," he said.

At least 20 other watermelon growers have similar tales to tell.

On March 29, an extortionist gang went to local watermelon farmers and demanded money from them. As Bipul Das, president of Awami League unit of ward No 1 under Rangabali union and his party colleagues protested the matter on the spot, the extortionists physically assaulted them.

Later on Monday, 58 leaders and activists including the assaulted men of the ward committee submitted their resignation to upazila AL president Ahsan Kabir Chan.

They alleged that several upazila unit Jubo League activists led by Duke Talukder, Babor Talukder and Rasel have continued random extortion everywhere in the upazila during the last three years.

"Local people including farmers and fishermen are helpless before the extortionists. They do not respect even the seniors in the party. And so, we have decided to resign from the party," said Bipul Das, president of local ward AL.

Asked about the allegations, Humayun Talukder, president of Rangabali upazila unit Jubo League, said, "We are not involved in any kind of extortion here. I do not know whether Awami League men resigned."

Anamul Islam Litu, secretary of upazila AL said, "I am not involved with saline water lifting through sluice gate."
