

WHERE THE HEAD IS HELD HIGH

CHALLENGED they may be, but there is little question that their spirit is always high. Last month, a number of physically and mentally challenged children took part in their annual summer sports at the Government Physical Training College in Mohammadpur, Dhaka. A wide range of sports, indoor as well as outdoor, was organised for them. You name it. It was anything from sprints on wheelchairs to chess for the visually challenged. And they clearly relished it all, happy to be part of the wider world, happy in knowing that they had not been forgotten. The National Sports Council and National Forum of Organisations Working with the Disabled arranged the events.
