Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation SDC
The Embassy of Switzerland in Bangladesh and the Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation (SDC) have decided to continue supporting the local governance project "Sharique" after July 2013 for an additional phase. Sharique aims to support empowering, inclusive and pro-poor local governance processes in Bangladesh. In this regard, SDC invites companies and NGOs to submit Expressions of Interest (EOI) in bidding for the project. Based on the submitted EOI, SDC will select and invite three bidders to submit full tenders. Please visit www.sdc.org.bd (tender information) for more information.

WORLD DEVELOPMENT REPORT 2013 : Jobs
The World Development Report 2013: Jobs explains and analyzes the connection between jobs and important dimensions of economic and social development. The Report provides analytical tools to identify the obstacles to sustained job creation and examine differences in the nature of jobs, which in turn affects the potential of jobs to raise living standards, increase aggregate productivity, and enhance social cohesion. It explores the notion of a "good job" in that some jobs do more for economic and social development than others, because they reduce poverty and inequality, strengthen value chains and production clusters, or help build trust and shared values.
