

OF NABANNA, OF HERITAGE

THE season is Nabanna. The soul rhymes in tune with the rhythm of the season. With the arrival of the Bangla month of Agrahayan, farmers across the country commence harvesting their crops. This season of plenty is celebrated across the country with the Nabanna Utsab. The festival is part of our heritage and culture. It is celebrated in the capital and across the country as a whole. Music and dance are performed at the Ramna Batamul. There are traditional food items like pitha and a small fair for all to enjoy. Good cheer is all, for it is about Bengali heritage and, in a larger sense, history.
