Hundreds homeless, 15 injured as blaze at night destroys Hazaribagh slum in city; all victims are women, children

SHAHEEN MOLLAH and ASIF ISLAM SHAON

At least 11 people were killed as a devastating fire razed a slum and some of its adjoining tin-shed homes in the capital's Hazaribagh early yesterday.

The victims -- six children and five women -- were trapped and burned alive in a bathroom and a kitchen where they had taken shelter, witnesses said.

More than 15 people were also injured and about 700 shanties and 12 tin-shed houses were burned down in the blaze that originated at a rickshaw garage at Boubazar slum around 2:45am.

Fire fighters were still investigating the cause of the fire, but locals said it might have originated from cigarette butts, mosquito coils or a kerosene stove in the garage.

The shanty is home to about 3,000 low-income people, all of whom have been affected somehow or the other.

Just minutes after it broke out, the fire engulfed the nearby houses after coming in contact with some kerosene drums, which had been

Jamaat attacks cops again

19 hurt in Ctg, Dhaka

STAR REPORT

The Jamaat-e-Islami and its student wing Islami Chhatra Shibir once again swooped on law enforcers yesterday, leaving at least eight policemen and 11 others injured in Chittagong and Dhaka.

The day before, the Jamaat announced a countrywide "peaceful programme" for yesterday, protesting government "oppression" on its leaders and filing of "false" cases against them. But the party did not give any details of its programme.
