Meanwhile, the government has also decided to appoint Md Shahidul Haq as the next foreign secretary.

But Shahidul, an officer of 1986 batch of BCS (Foreign Affairs), would not be made foreign secretary right this moment as he is now holding the position of director general which is equivalent to joint secretary at the foreign ministry.

Additional Foreign Secretary Mustafa Kamal is expected to take over as acting foreign secretary from next month until Shahidul Haq is eligible for the foreign secretary post, said officials at the ministry.

An official of the Ministry of Public Administration said the SSB may sit next month to consider pending promotions when Shahidul is likely to be promoted to the position of additional secretary when he can be made acting foreign secretary.

The post of high commissioner in London felt vacant after expiry of contract job of Rajshahi University former vice chancellor Dr Mohammad Sayeedur Rahman Khan.

MEDICAL, DENTAL COLLEGES

Why not admission tests under univs?

HC asks govt

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The High Court yesterday asked the government to explain in three weeks why it should not be directed to transfer the authority of holding admission tests for medical and dental colleges to the universities concerned.

It came up with the rule in response to a writ petition which claimed that the government illegally controls admission tests for medical and dental colleges as Education Policy, 2010 states that public universities are the authority to hold such tests.

Supreme Court lawyer Eunus Ali Akond filed the petition yesterday with the HC, seeking its directive on the authorities concerned of government to transfer the power to hold admission tests for medical and dental colleges to the respective universities.

The HC bench of Justice Syed Refaat Ahmed and Justice Sheikh Hassan Arif issued the rule after holding a hearing on the petition.

Contacted, Eunus said secretaries to the ministries of health, education, defence, director general of directorate of health services, director of Armed Forces Medical College, and six other officials have been made respondents to the rule.

Modified textbooks for class I-IX next yr: Nahid

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The government is going to distribute textbooks with modified curriculums to class I-IX students from next January, said Education Minister Nurul Islam Nahid yesterday.

The changes, in line with the national education policy recommendations, were brought to 111 textbooks, keeping pace with the demand of time, he said at a press briefing at his ministry's conference room.

"Producing competent and efficient human resources as per the demand of the fast-changing world and globalisation is not possible with the existing curriculum which was prepared back in 1995," Nahid said.

Class XI students will also have textbooks with modified curriculums, he said.

Nahid said six subjects -- Bangla, English, mathematics, Bangladesh O Bishwa Porichoy, Information and Communication Technology, and life-oriented education -- were made mandatory for class VI-X students, including those of madrasas.

The total marks of these subjects will be 650.

Some new chapters like climate change, reproductive health, autism, and right to information have been included in some subjects at secondary level, he said.

Nahid said they also kept some optional subjects like population and development studies, human resource development, human rights and gender studies, and tourism and hospitality for class XI and XII students.

"It is a revolutionary step for the country's education. We have emphasised on humane and moral values in the new curriculum," he said.

National Curriculum and Textbook Board Chairman Prof Mostofa Kamal Uddin said mistakes in the new curriculum could be amended.

Education Secretary Kamal Abdul Naser and Dr Siddiqur Rahman of Institute of Education and Research of Dhaka University also spoke at the briefing.

Why physical education teachers' job not class-II?

HC asks govt

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The High Court yesterday asked the government to explain in two weeks why it should not be directed to give class-I status to physical education teachers at 70 government colleges.

The rule came following a writ petition claiming that the government's action of not giving class-I status to the teachers is discriminatory, as it has earlier given the same status to the teachers of primary training institutes (PTIs).

The college's 70 physical education teachers including Majharul Islam and Mashirul Rahman jointly submitted the petition yesterday seeking directive from the HC on the government to upgrade their existing status from class-III to class-I.

According to the petition, physical education teachers of government colleges and PTIs were appointed as class-III employees. But only the PTI teachers were given class-I status in 2003.

The HC bench of Justice Tariq ul Hakim and Justice Ashish Ranjan Das issued the rule after holding hearing on the petition.

Petitioners' counsel Bodruddoza Badal told The Daily Star that eight government high officials including secretaries of the ministries of public administration, finance and education have been made respondents to the rule.
