US stands by Japan angering China Beijing cries foul after Hillary's veiled threat over territorial row

AFP, Beijing

Veiled US warnings to Beijing not to challenge Japan's control of disputed islands encouraged Tokyo's "dangerously rightleaning" government and "betrayed" Washington's vow of neutrality, Chinese state media said yesterday.

The comments came as Japan's

ISLAND ROW

coastguard said three Chinese government ships had entered Japanese territorial waters around the islands, known as the Senkaku in Japanese and the Diaoyu in Chinese.

US Secretary of State Hillary Clinton on Friday said the area around the islands in the East China Sea was under Japan's control and therefore protected under a US security treaty with Tokyo.

Speaking at a joint news conference with Japanese Foreign 140 countries

adopt Mercury

Delegations from some breaking treaty limiting hazardous mercury, the binding treaty on mer-reduce global emission levels of the toxic heavy quicksilver, which poses risks to human health and Countries will be asked metal also known as the environment.

to sign the treaty next

October in Minamata,

Japan, in honour of the town's inhabitants who for decades have suffered the consequences of serious mercury contamina-

Mercury is found in products ranging from thermometers to lightfillings and even facial amounts of the heavy coal-burning power

cement production.

metal are released from small-scale gold mining, plants, metal smelters and Serious mercury poisoning affects the body's immune system and can lead to problems including psychological disorproblems with the digestive, cardiovascular and respiratory tracts.

ders, loss of teeth and creams, and large bulbs, to amalgam dental electrical switches to tion, a statement said.

Swiss foreign ministry said

The world's first legally

cury, reached after a week of thorny talks, will aim to

to adopt a ground-

the use of health-

140 countries have agreed treaty

AFP, Geneva

yesterday.

US Secretary of State Hillary Clinton and Japanese Foreign Minister Fumio Kishida speak to the press following talks at the State Department in Washington, DC on Friday. PHOTO: AFP

Minister Fumio Kishida in power in the region". It was "unwise" for Washington "to throw support behind Japan in tioning Beijing directly, she said Tokyo's islands dispute with the US opposed "any unilateral Beijing", Xinhua said, adding: actions" to undermine Japanese "This unbalanced position has But in a commentary piece, the betrayed its declared intention to stay neutral on the issue."

The US proposal for "tighter position, saying it "cast doubts on military alliance with Japan will (US) credibility as a responsible only encourage Tokyo's dangerously right-leaning tendency", Xinhua said.

But Chinese foreign ministry spokesman Qin Gang was quoted by the agency as saying that Beijing "has always advocated to resolve issues between relevant countries through bilateral dialogue and by peaceful means".

The United States insists it is neutral on the ultimate sovereignty of the islands.

"We want to see China and Japan resolve this matter peacefully through dialogue," Clinton said Friday.

"We do not want to see any action taken by anyone that could raise tensions or result in miscalculation that would undermine the peace, security and economic growth in this region."

China has persistently criticised the US position and the sending of maritime surveillance ships to the potentially gas-rich area is seen by experts as a way to contest the notion that Japan holds effective control.

US, China agree on N Korea sanctions

AFP, United Nations

The United States and China have made a deal under which the UN Security Council will expand existing sanctions against North Korea for staging a ballistic missile test, envoys said Friday.

The deal was struck after weeks of intense negotiations following the December 12 launch. The talks have involved US Secretary of State Hillary Clinton and her Chinese counterpart Yang Jiechi, according to envoys.

China wants to shield its ally against new action on top of sanctions ordered after its nuclear tests in 2006 and 2009. US and Chinese diplomats made no immediate comment on the negotiations.

Flu epidemic

A flu epidemic gripping

the United States is more severe than usual, striking the elderly especially hard, health authorities said Friday as they also announced 29 child vic-

With the nation only about halfway through the season, complications are likely to worsen for those

Tom Frieden, chief of the

who caught the flu, said

Control and Prevention.

Centers for Disease

kills 29 US

children

AFP, Washington

tims.

NEWS IN brief

Date set for Falkland referendum

AFP, London

Falkland Islanders will be asked specifically whether they want the archipelago to retain its status as a British overseas territory in a referendum on March 10 and 11, its government announced.

Confirming the date and the final wording of the question, the referendum is intended at sending Argentina an unambiguous verdict from the 3,000-odd islanders, amid tension between London and Buenos Aires over sovereignty.

Raul Castro sued in Chile

AFP, Santiago

A group of retired Chilean military officers sued Cuban President Raul Castro on Friday, accusing him of financing a 1985 arms shipment to opponents of General Augusto Pinochet's dictatorship.

The suit filed with the Santiago Court of Appeals seeks Castro's arrest and trial for allegedly arming a guerrilla movement to try to overthrow the Pinochet regime, which seized power in a 1973 coup.

158 cops arrested in Mexico

AFP, Durango

Authorities arrested 158 police officers in two northern Mexican towns over alleged links to drug traffickers Friday, forcing the army and state police to fill the security void, prosecutors said. The army, federal and state police rounded up 110 municipal officers in the town of Lerdo and another 48 in neighboring Gomez Palacio, including their two chiefs, said Durango state attorney general Sonia de la Garza Fragoso.

Indonesian floods toll rises to 15

AFP, Jakarta

The death toll from floods in Indonesia's capital Jakarta has risen to 15 after rescuers found another four bodies, a police spokesman said yesterday as floodwaters receded.

Jakarta police spokesman Rikwanto said that three bodies were pulled out of the water on Friday while a body trapped since Thursday in a flooded parking lot in the capital's business district was found early Saturday.

Rahul appointed as Congress VP

Call grows within party for his PM candidacy in coming polls

OUR CORRESPONDENT, New Delhi

tary general of the party.

Rahul Gandhi was formally elevated to the number two position in India's ruling Congress party yesterday after being appointed its vice-president, but his role in the 2014 Lok Sabha polls would be decided later. The anointment of the 42-year-old leader

Washington, and without men-official Chinese news agency

Xinhua criticised Washington's authority over the islands.

nine years after he entered politics was formalised at the meeting of the party's highest policy making body, the Congress working committee moved by defence minister AK Antony. The decision ends prolonged speculation about a bigger role for Rahul, so far one of the 11 general secretaries of the Congress. The speculation focussed on the possibility of his being made working president or secre-

(CWC), which unanimously adopted a resolution for this

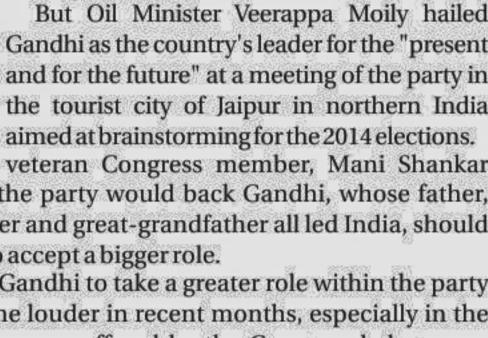

It was clear that the party has stopped short of naming Rahul either as its face in the 2014 polls or as its prime ministerial candidate, obviously, giving itself time to see how the political scenario pans out in the run up to the polls.

and for the future" at a meeting of the party in the tourist city of Jaipur in northern India aimed at brainstorming for the 2014 elections. Another veteran Congress member, Mani Shankar Aiyar, said the party would back Gandhi, whose father, grandmother and great-grandfather all led India, should he decide to accept a bigger role. Calls for Gandhi to take a greater role within the party have become louder in recent months, especially in the wake of reverses suffered by the Congress-led government in some of its traditional strongholds.

A still image broadcast by Algeria's Ennahar TV yesterday shows hostages surrendering to Islamist gunmen who overtook a gas facility in Tiguentourine near In Amenas in the south of the country. Islamists killed all seven of their remaining foreign captives before being gunned down at a gas plant in the Algerian desert, state media said, ending one of the bloodiest international hostage crises in years.

One of the leading Multinational Company based in Chittagong with a powerful combination of skills and resources looking to appoint challenging, energetic & creative personnel. We are looking to appoint

Human Resources Manager

The position is based at its factory in Chittagong.

Key responsibilities:

- Responsible for all operational HR functions and activities.
- Overall responsibility of Administration, Industrial Relations & Site Security.
- Conduct and complete annual Performance Management, Training & Development of People at the site.
- Overall management of the Occupational Health Center at site.
- Ensure that risk to business is proactively managed.
- Ensure proper recruitment process, talent development and a robust succession plan is in place.
- Manage and settle Negotiations with union.
- Maintaining liaison with the government & non government agencies.

We offer:

- Excellent working environment with a team of innovative people.
- Attractive compensation package.
- Personal development opportunity.
- Full medical reimbursement.
- Long term benefits, e.g. contributory provident fund.

Our requirements:

- Masters in Social Science / MBA major in HR / PGDPM / PGDHRM.
- Minimum 10 years of working experience in operational HR/factory HR of which minimum 3 years as Operational HR head in any MNCs/local big company.
- Sound knowledge in Operational HR, IR, Labour Laws.
- Your age should be within 45 years
- Strong personality strong in decision making, good administrative quality.
- Proven track record of handling Union issues/ negotiation with CBA
- Proven track record of working under pressure and delivering business results specially related to HR.
- Able to exercise effective judgment, sensitivity, creativity to changing needs and situations.
- Able to establish and maintain healthy working relationships with people in course of work.
- Good PR would be an added advantage.
- Good communication skill both writing and speaking in Bengali & English with basic computer knowledge.

If you think you are the person we are looking for - please send your resume with recent passport size photograph to: Box No. D-01, C/o: The Daily Star, 64-65 Kazi Nazrul Islam Avenue, Dhaka-1215. Only short listed candidates will be invited for interviews. Application deadline: 27 January 2013.

Mali Crisis

AU leaders call for more global involvement

AFP, Abidjan

West African leaders yesterday called for greater international involvement in Mali as they met to speed up the deployment of regional troops to boost a French-backed offensive to halt an Islamist onslaught.

The emergency summit in Ivory Coast's main city Abidjan was also attended by French Foreign Minister Laurent Fabius who clearly said it was time for the Africans to take over and "as soon as possible", adding that this was "the aim of our meeting."

"France was obliged to intervene very, very rapidly, otherwise there would have been no more Mali," Fabius said on his arrival in Abidjan. "But it is well understood that it is the Africans that must pick up the baton."

France said Saturday it had 2,000 of the 2,500 troops it had pledged on the ground in Mali, amid fears that the vast arid north which the rebels control could become a haven for Islamist militants and threaten security both in the region and overseas.

Ivory Coast President Alassane Ouattara, who is also current head of the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS) regional bloc, said it was high time other countries did their bit in Mali.

"The hour has come for a broader commitment by the major powers and more countries and organisations to the military operations to show greater solidarity with France and Africa in the total and multi-faceted war against terrorism in Mali," said Quattara at the start of the meeting.

Malian soldiers, backed by French troops and air power, retook the key central town of Konna on Thursday from Al-Qaeda-linked rebels who had swooped down more than a week ago from their northern stronghold and threatened the capital Bamako.

POST-MUBARAK CLASHES

Egypt drops hundreds of charges

REUTERS, Cairo

An Egyptian court yesterday dismissed cases against 379 people accused of involvement in clashes with police during protests near the Interior Ministry in November 2011 in which 42 demonstrators were killed.

The decision was based on President Mohamed Morsi's offer of an amnesty for those facing charges related to events during and after the 2011 uprising. Cairo and other cities saw many violent protests against the army rulers who took over interim power after Mubarak was ousted on February 11, 2011.