PARAG ABDUCTION CASE HC summons dist judge, PP Asks why bail to 5 accused shouldn't be cancelled

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The High Court yesterday summoned before it the lower court judge, who had granted bail to five accused in schoolboy Parag Mondol abduction case.

Judge Md Abdul Majid of the Dhaka District and Sessions Judge's Court will have to appear before the court on February 20 by 10:30am to explain why he had granted bail to the accused in this sensational case.

Six-year-old Parag Mondol, a student of KG-I at Heed International School, was abducted at Shuvadda Paschim Para in Keraniganj on November 11, 2012. He was found three days later in Atibazar area of the locality.

According to the reports published in Bangla daily Prothom Alo on Tuesday and yesterday, Judge Abdul Majid granted bail to Aminul Haque alias Jewel Mollah, Alfaz Hossain, Mamun Miah, Rizvi Ahmed Anik and Abul Kashem on different days of January and February.

The HC yesterday in response to a petition directed

EC sits today on Jamaat's registration

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

In the face of a growing demand for banning Jamaat-e-Islami, the Election Commission sits today to decide the fate of the party's registration with the EC.

"The Jamaat-e-Islami was given ample time to correct its charter in line with the registration criteria. We have asked our law section to identify if any provision in Jamaat's charter contradicts the RPO and country's constitution. We will discuss in detail the issue tomorrow [today] and reach a decision," Election Commissioner Brig Gen (ret'd) Zayed Ali told reporters at his office yesterday.

SHAHBAGH MOVEMENT Wide coverage in int'l media

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The international media have positively highlighted the non-stop mass movement demanding death penalty for war criminals in Bangladesh.

"The protesters of Shahbag often resemble a jubilant flash-mob," according to an article published in The Guardian, a UK-based newspaper, yesterday.

The newspaper said the movement -- centred around Shahbag, which some have renamed Projonmo Chottor (New Generation Roundabout) -- shows no sign of abating.

"It reached its peak on Friday, when the organisers called a grand rally. Numbers vary, but are estimated to

JU restive over security issue

VC withdraws decision to quit on minister's request

JU CORRESPONDENT

Hours after the announcement of his resignation, Vice-chancellor of Jahangirnagar University Prof Anwar Hossain last night backtracked from the decision.

"Honouring requests of the education minister and students of the university, I have decided not to resign," Prof Anwar told reporters yesterday around 11:30pm at his official residence on campus.

Yesterday around 4:00pm, the VC had announced to step down from the post over allegations by its teachers' association that he had failed to ensure security on campus and was spoiling the teacher-student relation.

The Jahangirnagar Teachers' Association brought the
