Message

I extend my heartfelt congratulations to the students graduating through the 8th Convocation of BRAC University. Today's event is a milestone in your life as well as for the University. From the narrow confines of the academic world, you are venturing into the wide world of practical life, a life full of challenges that lie ahead. Our motto is to imbibe in our youth a high ethical standard and a passion to serve the society made to bring you up to where you are now. I believe that the class of 2013 will make us all proud through their academic achievements, professional excellence.

I congratulate the parents and guardians who made enormous sacrifices to support and encourage their words through these years. I thank the Vice Chancellor, faculty members and staff for ensuring a high academic standard at all times. I am indebted to the distinguished members of the Board of Trustees, Syndicate and the Academic Council for their time, energy and wise counsel.

BRAC University is today a recognized leader in the academic arena of Bangladesh. Our students are achieving excellence in their professional fields. Our research institutes are producing high-quality research work in the fields of Social Development, Public Health, Bio-Sciences, Humanities, Education and Governance. We are continuously expanding and modernizing our infrastructure to provide better facilities to our students.

Once again, I congratulate this year's graduates. I hope your education and knowledge to the service of those who have less, uphold human dignity and ensure liberty and social justice.

My best wishes for all of you in the future.

Message

May I extend my congratulations to BRAC University's graduating class of 2013. I feel privileged to be a part of the Convocation ceremony, to share in your joy and happiness. Today, you pass a milestone in your life. From the academic world you enter into a world full of possibilities, challenges, and yes, frustrations even. Use your BRAC University experience to seek perfection when you succeed, introspection when you fail and understand that all you owe to yourself is to do the best you possibly can.

I am happy to learn that BRAC University, although only a little over a decade old, has earned a name for itself in the academic world. I am further delighted to learn that the mission of the University is to produce citizens who are ethically sound and academically proficient. I congratulate the management, faculty and staff of the University for pursuing their mission with empathy, idealism and belief in every coming generation.

I once again congratulate the students of the class of 2013. May you make your families and society proud of your achievements.

Signed

Message

I am happy to know that BRAC University is holding its 8th convocation on 17 February 2013. On this occasion, I congratulate all the graduates, teachers, parents, guardians and the university authorities.

Quality educational institutions can create responsible citizens, and bring out their potential and values that add to the national and personal growth. The government has taken all out steps to provide all the support needed to make any educational endeavor successful. Private universities have become an integral part of government's effort to ensure higher education and build a knowledge-based society.

I hope the outgoing graduates of this university will be able to face the challenges of the 21st century and build a prosperous "Sonar Bangla" as dreamt by the greatest Bangalee of all time, the Father of the Nation Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman.

I wish the 8th convocation of BRAC University a great success.

Joi Bangla, Joi Bangabandhu
May Bangladesh Live Forever.

Message

I am an auspicious occasion for the graduates, who are going to enter a new world of practical experiences after years of academic learning. Now is the time for them to apply their knowledge and tools provided by their schools in their lives.

Education has the power to instill the ethos of a nation through the reinforcement of the national goals and destination. Education can uplift the morals of the students and turn them into not only successful people, but also responsible and aware human beings. I am sure that BRAC University has utilized its student population by nurturing the values of social welfare, ethical perspectives and visions for a better world. I have come to know that BRAC University pays special attention in ensuring scholarships for the underprivileged and the talented, which can be of great encouragement for these students. I have also learnt about the special emphasis on leadership skills practiced in this university, which is also a commendable step in assuring a prosperous tomorrow. Thus the graduating students embody hope and possibility to make Bangladesh proud of them as well as their institution.

I wish BRAC University's 8th convocation a successful commemoration of their collective accomplishment.

Message

It is a matter of great pleasure to know that BRAC University is going to hold its 8th Convocation on February 17, 2013. This event marks another year of collaborative success for the institution and leads the graduating students to claim their ground in the real world. I congratulate the graduating students, their parents, the faculty and the university administration on this happy occasion.

Qualified and efficient manpower is the prime need of the hour to gain national development and face the global challenges of the 21st century. BRAC University has been producing skilled and accomplished graduates by imparting quality education since its inception. I am confident that BRAC University has already made a mark for itself in the field of higher education and research. It has also gained popularity and acclaim for its quality of education and research facilities. I do believe that the graduating students of the university will uphold the vision of the institution and will prove themselves to be successful in combining their academic learning and social responsibilities towards ensuring a brighter Bangladesh.

I wish the 8th Convocation an all-out success.

Message

I extend my heartfelt congratulations to the students graduating in the 8th convocation of BRAC University.

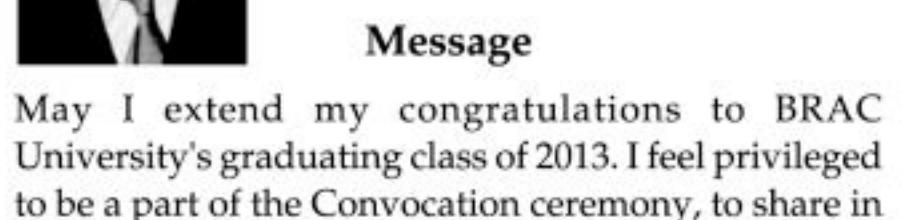

Today's event marks another milestone in the short history of BRAC University. In little more than a decade since it was established, BRAC University has made its mark as one of the leading Universities of the country. Whether in the quality of teaching or research, laboratory equipment or library facilities, technological innovation or co-curricular activities, BRAC University tries to incorporate the best and the latest. We have expanded our courses to include both technical and liberal arts subjects. Our academic and co-curricular activities are designed to produce educated youth with broad understanding of social, political and economic issues. It is no wonder, therefore, to see our graduates doing so well in their career. They are in the field of business and banking, in industry and research. Many are pursuing higher education in some of the best academic institutions around the world.

Our founding organization BRAC was adjudged as the best NGO in the world recently. As a member of the BRAC family, we are proud to uphold the high ideals of BRAC and indebted to its founder Chairperson Sir Fazle Hasan Abed KCMG for being our mentor and guide. I am also grateful to the members of the Board of Trustees (BoT), Syndicate and the Academic Council for their wise counsel. I am grateful to the Ministry of Education and the University Grants Commission (UGC) for their constant support. I want to thank the members of the faculty and the staff for their dedication and hard work that has culminated in producing over 700 graduates receiving their degree today.

Once again, I convey my warmest felicitations to the graduates. I know you are going to face a highly competitive world outside, but I am confident that we have prepared you well to overcome all obstacles and establish yourself as worthy citizens. You are our brand ambassador to the world. You will make us all proud, I am sure.

I thank all the parents and guardians for entrusting us with their greatest assets – their children. I am confident that your trust will be further strengthened when you see them successful in their life. I urge the graduating students never to forget the sacrifices made by their parents and guardians. Now is the time to pay back the debt. I wish all the students the very best in their future lives.
