

A DIFFERENT FALGUN

PAHELA Falgun, the first day of spring, is a day celebrated across the country, especially in Dhaka, with colours. People in colours of spring take part in programmes focusing on Bangla culture and heritage. It has been like this for years. This year something was different. People from all walks of life joined in the celebrations with a demand. They carried the national flag, wore a black badges and bandanas saying, "We want death penalty to Razakars". Inspired by the youth in Shahbagh who has been campaigning for the death penalty for all war criminals of the country's Liberation War, people en masse let the world know that they too want the same.
