

BAITUL MUKARRAM GATE CLOSURE BNP slams Islamic Foundation chief

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

BNP acting secretary general Mirza Fakhrul Islam Alamgir yesterday said the Islamic Foundation chief decided to keep shut the north gate of the national mosque Baitul Mukarram on Fridays because he got involved in politics.

He made the accusation at a discussion, "Awami misrule and democracy at stake", organised by Bangladesh Mukti Joddha Gonoparishad at Jatiya Press Club.

Islamic Foundation Director General Shamim Mohammad Afzal announced the decision on Thursday, saying the mosque authorities did not want to be a political weapon of anyone.

The declaration followed the February 22 violence when Jamaat-e-Islami and sympathisers rallied at the north gate after Juma prayers and launched violent activities to protest the anti-war criminal movement at Shahbagh.

Fakhrul also said the law enforcers killed common people like birds in the last two days. The government is doing all this only to hold on to power forever, he said. The BNP leader warned the prime minister, "Stop playing your dangerous game."

Fakhrul also said BNP would not tolerate anything injurious to the sentiment of the country's Muslims.

He said, "The prime minister visited the family of the man [blogger Ahmed Rajib Haider] who disheartened the Muslim community, but she didn't visit the family of Bishwajit [Das] who was killed by Chhatra League cadres."

PROBING GRAFT AT BTCL ACC team faces undue pressure

UNB, Dhaka

The investigation team of the Anti Corruption Commission (ACC), which is tasked with probing into alleged irregularities of state-owned Bangladesh Telecommunications Company Limited (BTCL), is facing problems in their work due to external and internal pressures.

"I've completed a number of crucial investigations in my life, but never felt such pressure as I'm facing now to probe the BTCL's graft," an ACC investigator told the news agency.

He said nearly two dozens senior officials of the anti-graft body are trying to influence the inquiry into the BTCL's graft allegation.

Earlier in the first week of February, the ACC team prepared a report and sent the same to the commission recommending filing of a case against some top officials of the BTCL on charge of misappropriating about Tk 600 crore of public money by erasing international incoming call lists.

But, the commission has not yet given approval to file a case, the ACC official said.

About the report, ACC Commissioner Badiuzzaman said he has not yet seen it, but if the report was submitted to the commission, it will be approved next week.

The four-member inquiry team, led by its deputy director SM Sahidur Rahman, is currently conducting probe into the irregularities of BTCL.

Unlicenced diagnostic centres, hospitals mushroom in Ctg city

UDAY SANKAR DAS, Ctg

An estimated 1,000 unlicenced diagnostic centres and private hospitals have mushroomed in Chittagong, some operating without any trained medical staff, with the authorities lacking power and resources to stop the illegal practice.

In some cases, these institutions are starting operations just after applying with the Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS) for licence and not waiting for approval.

This practice is a clear violation of the Medical Practice and Private Clinics and Laboratories (Regulation) Ordinance, 1982.

Nearly all the major thoroughfares of Chittagong city are lined with such centres and hospitals and more particularly in areas adjoining Chittagong Medical College Hospital (CMCH).

Their numbers do not match figures of the District Civil Surgeon's office in Chittagong, which states that there are just over 200 diagnostic centres and about 80 private hospitals, approved by the DGHS, in the district.

Minhazur Rahman, general secretary of Chittagong Clinic Owners Association, thinks that the number of such illegal healthcare centres would far exceed 1,000 and tougher action must be taken to bring these under the purview of the law.

Chittagong District Civil Surgeon Dr Md Abu Tayyab told The Daily Star that he knew about the unlicenced diagnostic centres and private hospitals.

He said his office, aided by the district administration and police, forms a mobile court and goes on rounds twice every month.

The illegal institutions are fined and/or asked to close down, he said, adding that a few doctor impersonators have already been fined.

However, some centres and hospitals continue operations after paying fines and in some cases, the "closing down" orders are not obeyed.

Most of these illegal clinics have been often found to be filthy and unhygienic, an environment not at all congenial for medical treatment.
